

Introduction

1. The Central Government, in exercise of the powers conferred, under sub-section (11) of section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013* (hereinafter referred to as “the Act”), issued the Companies (Auditor’s Report) Order, 2016, (CARO, 2016/ “the Order”) vide Order No. S.O. 1228(E) dated 29th March, 2016. CARO, 2016 contains certain matters on which the auditors of companies (except of those categories of companies which are specifically exempted under the Order) have to make a statement in their audit report. The text of the CARO, 2016 is given in Appendix I to this Guidance Note.

2. This Order is in supersession of the earlier Order issued in 2015, viz., the Companies (Auditor’s Report) Order, 2015 (CARO 2015). Appendix II to this Guidance Note contains a clause-by-clause comparison of the reporting requirements of the Order and the erstwhile CARO 2015.

3. The purpose of this Guidance Note is to enable the members to comply with the reporting requirements of the Order. It should, however, be noted that the clarifications and explanations contained in this Guidance Note are not intended to be exhaustive and the auditors should exercise their professional judgment and experience on various matters on which they are required to report under the Order.

General Provisions Regarding Auditor’s Report

4. The requirements of the Order are supplemental to the existing provisions of section 143 of the Act regarding the auditor’s report. In this regard the following points may be noted

- (i) the provisions of sub-sections (1), (2) & (3) of section 143 are applicable to all companies while the Order exempts certain categories of companies from its application; and
- (ii) the provisions of sub-section (1) require the auditor to make certain specific enquiries during the course of his audit. The auditor is, however, not required to report on any of the matters specified in the sub-section unless he has any special comments to make on the said matters. In other words, if he is satisfied with the results of his enquiries, he has no further duty to report that he is so satisfied. The Order, on the other hand, requires a statement on each of the matters specified therein, as applicable to the company.

5. Another question that arises is about the status of the Order vis a vis the directions given by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India under section 143(5) of the Act. In this regard, it may be noted that the Order is supplemental to the directions given by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India under section 143(5) in respect of government companies. These directions continue to be in force. Therefore, in respect of government companies, the matters specified in the Order will form part of the auditor’s report submitted to the members and the replies to the aforesaid questionnaire issued by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India will be governed by the requirements of section 143(5) of the Act

*Readers’ attention is invited to the fact that the Companies (Amendment) Bill 2016 is before the Parliament for approval. This Guidance Note does not take into account the amendments to the Companies Act, 2013 as proposed in the aforesaid Bill.

6. The Order is not intended to limit the duties and responsibilities of auditors but only requires a statement to be included in the audit report in respect of the matters specified therein.

Applicability of the Order

Companies Covered by the Order

7. The Order applies to all companies except certain categories of companies specifically exempted from the application of the Order.

8. The Order also applies to foreign companies as defined in clause (42) of section 2 of the Act. According to the aforesaid section, a “foreign company” means:

“Any company or body corporate incorporated outside India which -

(a) has a place of business in India whether by itself or through an agent, physically or through electronic mode; and

(b) conducts any business activity in India in any other manner.”

9. In the case of a foreign company, wherever under any of the provisions of the Act, an audit under Chapter X of the Act is required to be carried out, the Order would be applicable.

10. The Order is also applicable to the audits of branch(es) of a company since sub-section 8 of section 143 of the Act read with Rule 12 of the Companies (Audit and Auditors) Rules, 2014 clearly specifies that a branch auditor has the same duties in respect of audit as the company’s auditor. It is, therefore, necessary that the report submitted by the branch auditor contains a statement on all the matters specified in the Order, as applicable to the company, except where the company is exempt from the applicability of the Order, to enable the company’s auditor to consider the same while complying with the provisions of the Order.

Companies Not Covered by the Order

11. The Order provides that it shall not apply to:

(i) a banking company as defined in clause (c) of section 5 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949);

(ii) an insurance company as defined under the Insurance Act, 1938 (4 of 1938);

(iii) a company licensed to operate under section 8 of the Act;

(iv) a One person Company as defined under clause (62) of section 2 of the Act and a Small Company as defined under clause (85) of the section 2 of the Act; and

(v) a private limited company, not being a subsidiary or holding company of a public company, having a paid-up capital and reserves and surplus not more than rupees one crore as on the balance sheet date and which does not have total borrowings exceeding rupees one crore from any bank or financial institution at any point of time during the financial year and which does not have a total revenue as disclosed in Schedule III to the Act, (including revenue from discontinuing operations) exceeding rupees ten crores during the financial year as per the financial statements.

12. The Order specifically exempts banking companies, insurance companies and companies which have been licensed to operate under section 8 of the Act. The Order also exempts One Person Company and a Small Company from its application. The applicability of the Order would be based on the status of the company as at the balance sheet date. It may also be noted that in case a company is covered under the definition of small company, it will remain exempted from the applicability of the Order even if it falls under any of the criteria specified for private company.

13. The specific exemption under the Order is given to companies licensed under section 8 of the Act. However, it would appear that in view of the provisions of section 465 of the Act, the exemption would also extend companies licensed to operate under section 25 of the Companies Act 1956.

14. A private limited company, in order to be exempt from the applicability of the Order, must satisfy all the conditions mentioned above collectively. In other words, even if one of the conditions is not satisfied, a private limited company's auditor has to report on the matters specified in the Order.

Private Limited Company

15. The term "private limited company", as used in the Order, should be construed to mean a company registered as a "private company" {as defined in sub-section (68) of section 2 of the Act}.

Paid-up Capital and Reserves and Surplus

16. Sub-section (64) of section 2 of the Act defines the term "paid-up capital" as such aggregate amount of money credited as paid-up as is equivalent to the amount received as paid up in respect of shares issued and also includes any amount credited as paid up in respect of shares of the company, but does not include any other amount received in respect of such shares, by whatever name called.

The Guidance Note on Terms Used in Financial Statements, issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, defines the term "paid-up share capital" as, "that part of the subscribed share capital for which consideration in cash or otherwise has been received. This includes bonus shares allotted by the corporate enterprise". Paid-up share capital would include both equity share capital as well as the preference share capital. While calculating the paid-up capital, amount of calls unpaid should be deducted from and the amount originally paid-up on forfeited shares should be added to the figure of paid-up capital. Share application money received should not be considered as part of the paid-up capital.

17. The Guidance Note on Terms Used in Financial Statements defines the term "reserve" as, "The portion of earnings, receipts or other surplus of an enterprise (whether capital or revenue) appropriated by management for a general or specific purpose other than provision for depreciation or diminution in the value of assets or for a known liability.

As per schedule III of Companies Act 2013 "Reserves & Surplus" consists of:-

- Capital Reserves;

- Capital Redemption Reserve;
- Securities Premium Reserve;
- Debenture Redemption Reserve;
- Revaluation Reserve;
- Share Options Outstanding Account;
- Other Reserves—(specify the nature and purpose of each reserve and the amount in respect thereof);
- Surplus i.e., balance in Statement of Profit and Loss

(Debit balance of Statement of Profit and Loss shall be shown as a negative figure under the head “Surplus”.)

18. Reserves are primarily of two types—capital reserves and revenue reserves. According to the Guidance Note on Terms Used in Financial Statements, the term “capital reserve” means “a reserve of a corporate enterprise which is not available for distribution as dividend”. The said Guidance Note defines the term “revenue reserve” as “any reserve other than capital reserve”. For determining the applicability of the Order to a private limited company, both capital as well as revenue reserves should be taken into consideration while computing the limit of rupees one crore; prescribed for paid-up capital and reserves & surplus. Revaluation reserve, if any, should also be taken into consideration while determining the figure of reserves for the limited purpose of determining the applicability of the Order. In case of debit balance of profit and loss, the same shall be netted for computing reserves & surplus. To summarise, total of reserves and surplus as disclosed in the financial statements should be considered in evaluating the threshold.

Borrowings

19. Borrowings from banks or financial institutions can be long term or short term and are normally in the form of term loans, demand loans, export credits, cash credits, overdraft facilities, bills purchased or discounted. Outstanding balances of such borrowings should be considered as borrowing outstanding for the purpose of computing the limit of rupees one crore. Non-fund based credit facilities, to the extent such facilities have devolved and have been converted into fund-based credit facilities, should also be considered as outstanding borrowings. The figures of outstanding borrowing would also include the amount of bank guarantees issued by the company where such guarantee(s) has (have) been invoked and encashed or where, say, a letter of credit has been devolved on the company. In case of term loans, interest accrued and due is considered as a borrowing whereas interest accrued but not due is not considered as a borrowing. Further, in case the company enjoys a facility, say, a cash credit facility, whose balance is fluctuating in nature, the Order would apply to the company in case on any day during the financial year concerned, the amount outstanding in the cash credit facility exceeds Rs. one crore as per books of the company along with other borrowings. The condition laid down in the Order is that the private company does not have total borrowing exceeding rupees one crore from any bank or financial institution at any point of time during the financial year. There is no stipulation in the Order that the borrowing should be a long-term borrowing or a short-term borrowing or that it should be a secured borrowing or an unsecured borrowing. Further, the condition would also apply notwithstanding the fact that the company has been granted an overdraft facility against, say, fixed deposits, of the company with the concerned bank. Current maturity of long term borrowings will also form part of borrowings. Moreover, outstanding dues in respect of credit cards would also be considered while calculating the limit of Rs. one crore; in respect of borrowings outstanding from a bank or financial institution. It is clarified that since the words used by the Order are 'any bank or financial institution', the limit of "exceeding one crore rupees" would apply in aggregate to all borrowings and not with reference to each bank or financial institution.

Financial Institution

20. Sub section (39) of section 2 of the Act defines the term "financial institution" to include a scheduled bank, and any other financial institution defined or notified under the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (2 of 1934)". The term financial institution has been defined under clause (c) of Section 45I of the RBI Act 1934 as under:-

"45I (c) "financial institution" means any non-banking institution which carries on as its business or part of its business any of the following activities, namely:—

- (i) the financing, whether by way of making loans or advances or otherwise, of any activity other than its own;
- (ii) the acquisition of shares, stock, bonds, debentures or securities issued by a Government or local authority or other marketable securities of a like nature;
- (iii) letting or delivering of any goods to a hirer under a hire-purchase agreement as defined in clause (c) of section 2 of the Hire-Purchase Act, 1972;
- (iv) the carrying on of any class of insurance business;
- (v) managing, conducting or supervising, as foreman, agent or in any other capacity, of chits or kuries as defined in any law which is for the time being in force in any State, or any business, which is similar thereto;
- (vi) collecting, for any purpose or under any scheme or arrangement by whatever name called, monies in lumpsum or otherwise, by way of subscriptions or by sale of units, or other instruments or in any other manner and awarding prizes or gifts, whether in cash or kind, or disbursing monies in any other way, to persons from whom monies are collected or to any other person, 2 [but does not include any institution, which carries on as its principal business;
 - (a) agricultural operations; or
 - (aa) industrial activity; or]
 - (b) the purchase or sale of any goods (other than securities) or the providing of any services; or
 - (c) the purchase, construction or sale of immovable property, so however, that no portion of the income of the institution is derived from the financing of purchases, constructions or sales of immovable property by other persons;

Explanation.— For the purposes of this clause, “industrial activity” means any activity specified in sub-clauses (i) to (xviii) of clause (c) of section 2 of the Industrial Development Bank of India Act, 1964;

Further “non-banking institution” has been defined under clause (e) of Section 45I of RBI Act 1934 as under:-

45I (e) “non-banking institution” means a company, corporation (cooperative society).

Further, the term “financial institution” is also referred to in the context of the definition of a non-banking financial company as defined by the RBI Act, 1934. The term “non-banking financial company” has been defined under clause (f) of Section 45I of RBI Act 1934 as under:-

“45I (f) “non-banking financial company” means—

- (i) a financial institution which is a company;
- (ii) a non-banking institution which is a company and which has as its principal business the receiving of deposits, under any scheme or arrangement or in any other manner, or lending in any manner;
- (iii) such other non-banking institution or class of such institutions, as the Bank may, with the previous approval of the Central Government and by notification in the Official Gazette, specify;”

Accordingly the term “financial institution” shall also cover a non-banking financial company (NBFC). A list of financial institutions covered under the Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 2014 is given in Appendix III to this Guidance Note. Further, private banks or foreign banks are banking institutions under the Banking Regulation Act, 1949. Therefore, loans taken from a private bank or a foreign bank would also be taken into consideration while examining the applicability of the Order.

Revenue

21. The term, “revenue”, has been defined by the Order as total revenue disclosed in Schedule III of the Act. Accordingly, the total revenue would include other income as per Schedule III. Here revenue will also include revenue from discontinuing operations as specified in the Order.

Auditor's Report to Contain Matters Specified in Paragraphs 3 and 4 of the Order

22. Every report made by the auditor under section 143 of the Act on the accounts of every company audited by him, to which this Order applies, for the financial year commencing on or after 1st April 2015 shall, in addition, contain the matters specified in paragraphs 3 and 4 of the Order as may be applicable. Accordingly the reporting under this Order shall be applicable for the financial year 2015-16 and onwards. In case the auditor has to report on the financial statements for the financial year prior to 2015-16, then the relevant earlier Order shall be applicable.

Here it is pertinent to mention that the Order specify the applicability of the matters by the words “as may be applicable”, reporting on the matters specified in paragraph 3 and 4 of the Order are to be made only on those matters which are applicable to the Company.

Non-applicability to the Consolidated Financial Statements

The Order specifically provides that it shall not apply to the auditor's report on consolidated financial statements.

Period of Compliance

A question might arise as to the period in relation to which the auditor should comment or report upon the matters specified in the Order. For example, several of the questions relate to the maintenance of proper records. What should be the position of the auditor when records were improperly maintained for some part of the financial year but have been properly maintained at the balance sheet date? One view of the matter would be that no adverse report is necessary since the deficiencies existing during the year have been rectified before the auditor makes his report. However, this view does not recognise the fact that maintenance of records is not an end by itself but is a necessary condition for the auditor to satisfy himself regarding the authenticity of the transactions on which he is reporting. The better view, therefore, is to consider that the auditor is reporting on the state of affairs as they existed during the accounting year and compliance with the requirements of the Order should be judged with reference to the whole accounting year and not merely with reference to the position existing at the balance sheet date or the date at which he makes his report. However, in deciding whether or not to make an unfavourable comment, the auditor should consider what detrimental effect, if any, has been caused by the failure to comply with the requirements of the Order for any part of the year. For example, if records for fixed assets were not properly maintained for some part of the year but were properly maintained at the balance sheet date and physical verification was made after the records were properly maintained, there is no detrimental effect on the company. However, if internal control with respect to the items specified in the relevant clause of the Order was inadequate during a part of the year, some detrimental effect on the company could have occurred.

At the same time, the auditor cannot ignore the position existing at the balance sheet date or at the time at which he makes his report. The auditor might consider, in the light of the circumstances and provided he is able to satisfy himself regarding the facts, as to whether a reference to the state of affairs existing at the balance sheet date or at the date when he makes his report would be necessary to give a more complete picture to the members to whom he is reporting.

It is not necessary that the auditor should refer individually to each of the transactions throughout the year where there has not been compliance with the requirements of the Order unless the non-compliance is so significant as to merit individual attention. Normally, it should be sufficient if he indicates in general terms whether or not the requirements have been complied with.

General Approach

23. In formulating a general approach to the requirements of the Order, it is necessary to take a view regarding the objective behind the issuance of the Order. The Order does not replace an audit by an investigation in respect of the matters specified therein. Many of these matters, in any case, are covered by an auditor in the normal course of his audit and the emphasis of the Order is not, therefore, on requiring the auditor to carry out an investigation but on requiring him to give specific information on certain aspects of his work.

24. The reporting under the Order, issued under section 143(11) of the Act, is only supplemental to the audit of financial statements of the company and the auditor's report issued in terms of section 143(2) and 143(3) of the Act. Reporting under the Order should not, therefore, be construed as a separate reporting engagement. Section 143(9) the Act, casts a duty on the auditor to comply with the auditing standards specified under section 143(10) of the Act. Hence, it should be noted that the auditor's procedures for reporting on the Order would, as in the case of audit of financial statements, need to be within the framework of the principles enunciated in the aforementioned Standards on Auditing.

25. It is possible that for the purposes of the Order, the auditor needs greater information from the management and, therefore, closer interaction with the management becomes necessary. This will ensure that there is sufficient advance planning regarding the manner in which the examination necessary for reporting on matters specified in the Order would be carried out by the auditor and the form in which the company should maintain its records so that they provide the necessary information and evidence to the auditor. An example of this would be the documents and records to be maintained by the company to provide the requisite evidence to the auditor regarding verification of fixed assets or inventories. It is, therefore, suggested that the auditor should intimate to the management, in writing, his requirements before the commencement of each audit. The auditor should also consider intimating additional requirements, if any, during the course of the audit. The auditor should also consider obtaining management representations, on matters on which the Order requires the auditor make a statement on certain aspects.

26. For a number of reasons, the necessity for preserving working papers by the auditors assumes greater importance in the context of the requirements of the Order. Firstly, there should be evidence that the opinion expressed by the auditor is based on an examination made by him. Secondly, there should be evidence to show that in arriving at his opinion, the auditor has given due cognisance to the information and explanations given by the company and that his opinion is not arbitrary. Thirdly, there should be evidence to show that the information and explanations obtained were full and complete, that is, the auditor has sought and obtained all the information and explanations which to the best of his knowledge and belief were necessary to be considered before arriving at his opinion. Finally, there should be evidence to show that the auditor did not merely rely upon the information or explanations given by the company but that he subjected such information and explanations to reasonable tests to verify their accuracy and completeness.

27. As the auditor needs to comply with the requirements of Standard on Auditing (SA) 230, "Audit Documentation", the auditor may take the following steps to ensure that he has adequate working papers to support the conclusions drawn in his report:

- (a) submit to the company, a questionnaire on all important matters covered by the Order.
- (b) make specific inquiries in writing on all important matters not covered by the questionnaire.

- (c) insist that replies of the company are furnished in writing and are signed by a responsible officer of the company.
- (d) where the explanations are not already separately recorded, maintain a record of the discussions with the management.
- (e) prepare his own “check-list” in respect of the requirements of the Order and record the names of the members of his staff who made the examination and the name of the company’s staff who provided the information. An illustrative check-list in respect of the requirements of the Order is given in Appendix IV to this Guidance Note.

28. Where a requirement of the Order is not complied with but the auditor decides not to make an adverse comment, in view of the immateriality of the item, he should record rationale for the same in his working papers.

29. The mere fact that the Order is confined to certain specific matters should not be interpreted to imply that the auditor’s duties in respect of other matters normally covered in the course of an audit of the financial statements are, in any way, limited or abridged by the Order. At the same time, it should be recognised that the reporting obligations under the Order are confined to the specific items stated in the Order.

30. Many of the matters covered by the Order require exercise of judgement by the auditor rather than the application of a purely objective test. For example, the auditor is required to state whether any material discrepancy noticed on physical verification of fixed assets have been properly dealt with in the accounts. This requires the exercise of judgement—firstly, in determining whether the discrepancies are material, and secondly, in deciding whether the accounting treatment is proper.

31. It may be noted that while reporting on matters specified in the Order, the auditor should consider the materiality, in accordance with the principles enunciated in Standard on Audit (SA) 320(Revised), Materiality in Planning and Performing an Audit. The auditor obtains reasonable assurance by obtaining audit evidences to reduce audit risk to an acceptable low level. Materiality and audit risk are considered throughout the audit, in particular, when determining the nature, timing and extent of further audit procedures to be performed. For example, the auditor, in case of loans granted by the company, as referred to in Clause 3(iii) of the Order, while reporting, on the repayment schedule of various loans granted, the auditor examines the loan documentation of all large loans and conducts a test check examination of the rest, having regard to the materiality.

32. It is necessary to remember that the exercise of judgement is bound to be a somewhat subjective matter. This is, in fact, recognised by the provisions of the Act which require the expression of an opinion by the auditor. When a professional expresses an opinion, he does not guarantee that his opinion is infallible nor does he hold out that his opinion will invariably agree with the opinion of another professional on the same facts. The test of an auditor’s liability in a matter which involves the exercise of judgement is not whether his opinion coincides with that of another person or authority, but whether he has expressed his opinion in good faith and after the exercise of reasonable care and skill. No liability can attach to an auditor in a matter involving the expression of an opinion based on the exercise of judgement, merely because there is a difference of opinion between him and some other person or authority or merely because some other person or authority comes to the conclusion that in expressing the opinion the auditor committed an error of judgement. The auditor may be liable, however, if it is found that he has expressed his opinion without exercising reasonable care and skill, or without applying his mind to the facts, or if he has expressed his opinion recklessly, in complete disregard of the facts.

Matters to be Included in the Auditor's Report

33. The matters to be included in the auditor's report are specified in paragraph 3 of the Order. It has sixteen clauses in all. The Clause-wise Comments are given below:-

34. Whether the company is maintaining proper records showing full particulars, including quantitative details and situation of fixed assets. [Paragraph 3(i)(a)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) The clause requires the auditor to comment whether the company is maintaining proper records showing full particulars, including quantitative details and situation of fixed assets. Accounting Standard (AS) 10¹, "Accounting for Fixed Assets" defines "Fixed Asset" as an "asset held with the intention of being used for the purpose of producing or providing goods or services and is not held for sale in the normal course of business".*
- (b) The Order does not define as to what constitutes 'proper records'. In general, however, the records relating to fixed assets should contain, inter alia, the following details:
 - (i) sufficient description of the asset to make identification possible;
 - (ii) classification, that is, the head under which it is shown in the accounts, e.g., plant and machinery, office equipment, etc;
 - (iii) situation;
 - (iv) quantity, i.e., number of units;
 - (v) original cost;
 - (vi) year of purchase;
 - (vii) useful life;
 - (viii) residual Value;
 - (ix) component-wise breakup; (Wherever applicable)

¹ As per revised Accounting Standard (AS) 10 (applicable from FY 2016-17), The head " Fixed Assets" replaced by "Property Plant and Equipment" which defines the term "the tangible items" that:

- a) are held for use in the production or supply of goods or services, for rental to others, or for administrative purposes; and
- b) are expected to be used during more than a period of twelve months".

* As per AS 26, Intangible Assets, an Intangible Asset is an identifiable non monetary asset, without physical substance, held for use in the production or supply of goods or services, for rental to others, or for administrative purposes.

- (x) adjustment for revaluation or for any increase or decrease in cost;
 - (xi) date of revaluation, if any;
 - (xii) rate(s)/basis of depreciation or amortisation, as the case may be;
 - (xiii) depreciation/amortisation for the current year;
 - (xiv) accumulated depreciation/amortisation;
 - (xv) particulars regarding impairment;
 - (xvi) particulars regarding sale, discarding, demolition, destruction, etc.
- (c) The records should contain the above-mentioned particulars in respect of all items of fixed assets, whether tangible or intangible, self-financed or acquired through finance lease. These records should also contain particulars in respect of those items of fixed assets that have been fully depreciated or amortised or have been retired from active use and held for disposal. The records should also contain necessary particulars in respect of items of fixed assets that have been fully impaired during the period covered by the audit report.

Thus, what constitutes proper records is a matter of professional judgment made by the auditor after considering the facts and circumstances of each case.

- (d) It is necessary that the aggregate original cost, depreciation or amortisation to date, and impairment loss, if any, as per these records under individual heads should reconcile with the figures shown in the books of account.
- (e) It is not possible to specify any single form in which the records should be maintained. This would depend upon the mode of account keeping (manual or computerized), the number of operating locations, the systems of control, etc. It may be noted that with the widespread use of the information technology, many companies maintain electronic records. In fact, section 2(12) of the Act, defines the terms “book and paper” and “book or paper” as including books of account, deeds, vouchers, writings, documents, minutes and registers maintained on paper or in electronic form”. Rule 3 of the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014 dealing with the “manner of books of account to be kept in electronic mode” states as under:

“(1) The books of account and other relevant books and papers maintained in electronic shall remain accessible in India so as to be usable for subsequent reference.

(2) Books of Account and other relevant books and papers referred to in sub-rule (1) shall be retained in the format in which they were originally generated, sent or received, or in a format which shall present accurately the information generated, sent or received and the information contained in the electronic records shall remain complete and unaltered.

(3) The information received from branch officers shall not be altered and shall be kept in a manner where it shall depict what was originally received from the branches.

- (4) The information in the electronic record of the document shall be capable of being displayed in a legible form.
- (5) There shall be a proper system for storage, retrieval, display or printout of the electronic records as the Audit Committee, if any, or the Board may deem appropriate and such records shall not be disposed of or rendered unusable, unless permitted by law.”

The Rule further explains that the term “electronic mode” includes “electronic form” as defined in section 2(1)(r) of the Information Technology Act, 2000 and also includes an electronic record as defined in section 2(1)(t) of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (as amended by the Amendment Act of 2008)². Accordingly, where any law requires that any information or matter should be in the typewritten or printed form, then such requirement shall be deemed to be satisfied if it is in an electronic form. However, it will have to be ensured that the information contained in the electronic records remains accessible and unaltered and its origin, destination, date, etc., can be identified.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (f) The auditor may, therefore, accept fixed assets register in electronic form if the following two conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) The controls and security measures in the company are such that once finalised, the fixed assets register cannot be altered without proper authorization and audit trail.³
 - (ii) The fixed assets register is in such a form that it can be retrieved in a legible form. In other words, the emphasis is on whether it can be read on the screen or a hard copy can be taken. If this is so, one can contend that it is capable of being retrieved in a legible form.

In case the above two conditions or either of the two conditions are not satisfied, the auditor should obtain a duly authenticated print-out of the fixed assets register. In case the auditor decides to rely on electronically maintained fixed assets register, he should maintain adequate documentation evidencing the evaluation of controls that seek to ensure the completeness, accuracy and security of the register.

- (g) The purpose of showing the situation of the assets is to make verification possible. There may, however, be certain classes of fixed assets whose situation keeps changing, for example, construction equipment which has to be moved to sites. In such circumstances, it should be sufficient if record of movement/custody of the equipment is maintained.

² Section 2(r) of the Information Technology Act, 2000 defined “electronic form” as follows:
“electronic form” with reference to information means any information generated, sent, received or stored in media, magnetic, optical, computer memory, micro film, computer generated micro fiche or similar device”
Section 2(t) of the information Technology Act, 2000 defines “electronic records” as follows:
“electronic record” means data, record or data generated, image or sound stored, received or sent in an electronic form or micro film or computer generated micro fiche.”

³ In this context, attention of the members is also drawn to Standard on Auditing (SA) 315, Identifying and Assessing the Risks of Material Misstatement Through Understanding the Entity and Its Environment” as also the “Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting”, issued by ICAI.

- (h) Where assets like furniture, etc., are located in the residential premises of members of the staff, the fixed assets register should indicate the name & designation of the person who has custody of the asset for the time being.
- (i) While, generally, the quantity, value and situation have to be recorded item-wise, assets of small individual value, e.g., chairs, tables, etc., may be conveniently grouped for purposes of entry in the register. Similarly, for assets having same useful life, it may not be necessary to indicate the accumulated depreciation for each item; instead, depreciation for the group as a whole may be shown.
- (j) Quantitative details in respect of fixed assets may be maintained on the following lines:
 - (i) Land may be identified by survey numbers and by deeds of conveyance.
 - (ii) Leaseholds can be identified by individual leases.
 - (iii) Buildings may, initially, be classified into factory buildings, office buildings, township buildings, service buildings (like water works), etc. These may then be further sub-divided. Factory buildings may be further classified into individual buildings which house a manufacturing unit or a plant or sub-plant. Service buildings may be similarly classified according to nature of service and location. Township buildings can be further classified into individual units or into groups of units taking into consideration the type of construction, the location and the year of construction. For example, if a company's township has four categories of quarters, e.g., A, B, C and D, the fixed assets register may not record each individual quarter but may have a single entry for all 'A' type quarters constructed in a particular year and located in a particular area and show only the number of quarters covered by the entry.
 - (iv) Railway sidings can be identified by length and location.
 - (v) Plant and Machinery may be sub-divided into fixed and movable. For movable machinery, a separate record may be kept for each individual item. Movable machinery would include, for this purpose, items of plant which are for the moment fixed to the shop-floor but which can be moved, e.g., machine tools. In respect of fixed plant and machinery, a sub-division can be made according to the process, a plant for each separate process being considered as a separate identifiable unit. A further sub-division may be useful when within a process, there are plants which are capable of working independently of each other. The degree to which a sub-division of fixed plant and machinery should be made depends upon the circumstances of each case bearing in mind the objectives of sub-division, namely, the determination of individual cost and the facility for physical verification and componentisation⁴.
 - (vi) Furniture and fittings and assets like office appliances, air-conditioners, ⁴ Attention of the readers is invited to the requirements of Schedule II to the Companies Act 2013 in respect of componentisation.

water coolers, etc., consist of individual items which can be easily identified. Some difficulty may, however, be faced with regard to the large number of items and their relative mobility. In such cases, a distinction by value may be necessary, individual identification being made for high-value items and by groups for other items.

- (vii) Development of property is an asset head which can be easily subdivided according to the buildings or plant for which the development work is undertaken.
- (viii) Patents, trademarks and designs are normally identifiable by the purchase agreements or the letters granting patent and by registration references in case of trademarks and designs. Intangible assets can be identified by reference to the purchase agreements (in case an intangible asset has been purchased) and by reference to the records and documents that substantiate the costs incurred by the company in the generation and development of an intangible asset.
- (ix) Vehicles can be identified by reference to the registration books.
- (k) In cases where the details regarding allocation of cost over identified units of assets are not available, it would have to be made by an analysis of the purchases and the disposals of the preceding years. Among the difficulties which may be faced could be: (i) records for some of the years may not be available; (ii) the description in the records may not be complete; (iii) details of disposals may not have been properly recorded; (iv) subsequent additions to an existing asset may have been shown as a separate asset; (v) a single figure of cost may be assigned to a number of assets which have to be separately identified; (vi) assets purchased for one department may have been moved to other departments, and so on. The management, in consultation with the auditor, should make the best effort possible under the circumstances to identify the cost of each asset. In doing so, reasonable assumptions or approximations may be made, where necessary. For example, when details of disposals are not available, it may be assumed that the asset sold is the asset which was acquired earliest in point of time. Similarly, when the individual cost of a large number of small items is not available, one can estimate the cost of each item and pro-rate the total cost in the proportion of the estimated cost of the item to the aggregate estimated cost.
- (l) It may be useful if initial identification of assets is done by persons who are familiar with them, e.g., the maintenance staff. At the point of identification, a code number may be affixed on the asset which would give sufficient details for future identification.
- (m) The initial identification of assets will often reveal a number of discrepancies between the assets as verified and the details compiled from the records. This may be on account of the features already considered in (l) above. This may also be due to the fact that assets might have been scrapped in earlier years but proper documentation may not have been made or that assets may have been broken up into smaller units or amalgamated into larger units or otherwise modified without changing the asset records. The degree of further inquiry necessary to reconcile these discrepancies would depend upon the nature of the asset, its cost, the age of the asset, the extent of accounting or other records available and other relevant factors. However, the concept of materiality should be borne in mind in making these further inquiries, greater attention being devoted to assets which are of large value or of relatively recent purchase. Any adjustments that finally have to be made should be properly documented. The auditor should request the appropriate level of management to carry out necessary adjustments.

35. Whether these fixed assets have been physically verified by the management at reasonable intervals; whether any material discrepancies were noticed on such verification and if so, whether the same have been properly dealt with in the books of account; [Paragraph 3(i)(b)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) The clause requires the auditor to comment whether the fixed assets of the company have been physically verified by the management at reasonable intervals. The clause further requires the auditor to comment whether any material discrepancies were noticed on such verification and if so, whether those discrepancies have been properly dealt with in the books of account.
- (b) Physical verification of the assets is the responsibility of the management and, therefore, has to be carried out by the management itself and not by the auditor. It is, however, necessary that the auditor satisfies himself that such verification was done and that there is adequate evidence on the basis of which he can arrive at such a conclusion. The auditor may prefer to observe the verification, particularly when verification of all assets can be made by the management on a single day or within a relatively short period of time. If, however, verification is a continuous process or if the auditor is not present when verification is made, then he should examine the instructions issued to the staff (which should, therefore, be in writing) by the management and should examine the working papers of the staff to substantiate the fact that verification was done and to determine the name and competence of the person who did the verification. In making this examination, it is necessary to ensure that the person making the verification had the necessary technical knowledge where such knowledge is required. It is not necessary that only the company's staff should make verification. It is also possible for verification to be made by outside expert agencies engaged by the management for the purpose.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (c) The auditor should examine whether the method of verification was reasonable in the circumstances relating to each asset. For example, in the case of certain process industries, verification by direct physical check may not be possible in the case of assets which are in continuous use or which are concealed within larger units. It would not be realistic to expect the management to suspend manufacturing operations merely to conduct a physical verification of the fixed assets, unless there are compelling reasons which would justify such an extreme procedure. In such cases, indirect evidence of the existence of the assets may suffice. For example, the very fact that an oil refinery is producing at normal levels of efficiency may be sufficient to indicate the existence of the various process units even where each such unit cannot be verified by physical or visual inspection. It may not be necessary to verify assets like building by measurement except where there is evidence of alteration/demolition. At the same time, in view of the possibility of encroachment, adverse possession, etc., it may be necessary for a survey to be made periodically of open land.

- (d) It is advisable that the assets are marked with “distinctive numbers” especially where assets are movable in nature and where verification of all assets is not being conducted at the same time.
- (e) The Order requires the auditor to report whether the management” has verified the fixed assets at reasonable intervals. What constitutes “reasonable intervals” depends upon the circumstances of each case. The factors to be taken into consideration in this regard include the number of assets, the nature of assets, the relative value of assets, difficulty in verification, situation and geographical spread of the location of the assets, etc. The management may decide about the periodicity of physical verification of fixed assets considering the above factors. While an annual verification may be reasonable, it may be impracticable to carry out the same in some cases. Even in such cases, the verification programme should be such that all assets are verified at least once in every three years. Where verification of all assets is not made during the year, it will be necessary for the auditor to report that fact, but if he is satisfied regarding the frequency of verification he should also make a suitable comment to that effect.
- (f) The auditor is required to state whether any material discrepancies were noticed on verification and, if so, whether the same have been properly dealt with in the books of account. The latter part of the statement is required to be made only if the discrepancies are material. The auditor has, therefore, to use his judgement to determine whether a discrepancy is material or not. In making this judgement, the auditor should consider not merely the cost of the asset and its relationship to the total cost of all assets but also the nature of the asset, its situation and other relevant factors. If a material discrepancy has been properly dealt with in the books of account (which may or may not imply a separate disclosure in the accounts depending on the circumstances of the case), it is not necessary for the auditor to give details of the discrepancy or of its treatment in the accounts but he is required to make a statement that a material discrepancy was noticed on the verification of fixed assets and that the same has been properly dealt with in the books of account.

36. Whether the title deeds of immovable properties are held in the name of the company. If not, provide the details thereof; [Paragraph 3(i)(c)]

Relevant Provision

- (a) The clause requires the auditor to comment whether the title deeds of immovable properties are held in the name of the company, if not, to provide the details thereof. This clause shall cover the immovable properties which are included under the head Fixed Assets, as the reporting under Clause 3(i)(a) & 3(i)(b) pertains to Fixed Assets only.
- (b) The Act does not define the term “Immovable Property”. However, as per General Clauses Act, 1897, “Immovable Property” shall include land, benefits to arise out of land, and things attached to the earth, or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (c) Based on review of the Fixed Assets Register, the auditor is required to identify immovable properties and verify the title deeds of such immovable properties. TDRs(Transfer Development Rights), Plant and Machinery embedded in land etc., are not considered as an immovable property.
- (d) The Order is silent as to what constitutes 'title deeds'. In general, title deeds means a legal deed or document constituting evidence of a right, especially to the legal ownership of the immovable property.
- (e) Following documents mainly constitute title deeds of the immovable property:-
 - (i) Registered sale deed / transfer deed / conveyance deed, etc. of land, land & building together, etc. purchased, allotted, transferred by any person including any government, government authority / body/ agency / corporation, etc. to the company.
 - (ii) In case of leasehold land and land & buildings together, covered under the head fixed assets, the lease agreement duly registered with the appropriate authority.
- (f) The auditor should carry out detailed examination in the cases where immovable property is transferred as a result of conversion of partnership firm or LLP into company or amalgamation of companies, as in such cases title deeds may be in the name of the erstwhile entity.
- (g) Where the title deeds of the immovable property have been mortgaged with the Banks/ Financial Institutions, etc., for securing the borrowings and loan raised by the company, a confirmation about the same should be sought from the respective institution to this effect. The auditor may also consider verifying this information from the online records, if available, of the relevant State.
- (h) There may be instances where the title deeds were lost accidentally or otherwise. In such cases, the certified copies of the documents, as available with the company, and details about the FIR filed, about loss of such documents needs to be obtained and documented. The auditor should also seek written representation from the management in this regard.
- (i) The management is responsible for legal determination of the validity of title deeds, the auditor may refer SA 250 "Consideration of Laws and Regulations in an audit of Financial Statements" to the extent considered relevant and obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidences. Further any discrepancy, including any pending / disputed court cases relating to ownership, needs detailed discussion with the management and should be properly documented. In this context, the auditor may also consider communicating with the legal counsel, whether in-house or external, in accordance with the principles enunciated in SA 501, Audit Evidence – Specific Considerations for Selected Items. The auditor may also consider disclosing the dispute while reporting under this clause.
- (j) The auditor should verify the title deeds available and reconcile the same with the fixed assets register. The scrutiny of the title deeds of the immovable property may reveal a number of discrepancies between the details in the fixed assets register and the details available in the title deeds. This may be due to various reasons which needs to be examined.

- (k) The reporting under this clause, where the title deeds of the immovable property are not held in the name of the Company, may be made incorporating following details, in the form of a table or otherwise:

a. In case of land:-

total number of cases,
whether leasehold / freehold, gross block and net block, (as at Balance Sheet date), and remarks, if any.

b. In case of Buildings:-

Total number of cases,
gross block & net block, (as at Balance Sheet date) and
remarks, if any.

37. Whether physical verification of inventory has been conducted at reasonable intervals by the management and whether any material discrepancies were noticed and if so, whether they have been properly dealt with in the books of account; [Paragraph 3(ii)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) The clause requires the auditor to comment whether the management has conducted physical verification of inventory at reasonable intervals.

The clause also requires the auditor to comment whether any material discrepancies were noticed on physical verification of inventory and if so, whether those material discrepancies have been properly dealt with in the books of account.

- (b) According to Accounting Standard (AS) 2, "Valuation of Inventories":

"Inventories are assets:

- (a) held for sale in the ordinary course of business;
(b) in the process of production for such sale; or
(c) in the form of materials or supplies to be consumed in the production process or in the rendering of services."

- (c) Inventories encompass goods purchased and held for resale, for example, merchandise purchased by a retailer and held for resale, computer software held for resale, or land and other property held for resale. Inventories also encompass finished goods produced, or work in progress being produced, by the enterprise and include materials, maintenance supplies, stores and spares, consumables and loose tools awaiting use in the production process. It may be noted that packing materials are also included in inventories. Inventories do not include machinery spares covered by Accounting Standard (AS) 10, “Accounting for Fixed Assets”, which can be used only in connection with an item of fixed asset and the use of which is expected to be irregular⁵.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (d) Physical verification of inventory is the responsibility of the management of the company which should verify all material items at least once in a year and more often in appropriate cases. It is, however, necessary that the auditor satisfies himself that the physical verification of inventories has been conducted at reasonable intervals by the management and that there is adequate evidence on the basis of which the auditor can arrive at such a conclusion. For example, the auditor may examine the documents relating to physical verification conducted by the management during the year as also at the end of the financial year covered by the auditor’s report.
- (e) What constitutes “reasonable intervals” depends on circumstances of each case. The periodicity of the physical verification of inventories depends upon the nature of inventories, their location and the feasibility of conducting a physical verification. The management of a company normally determines the periodicity of the physical verification of inventories considering these factors. Normally, wherever practicable, all the items of inventories should be verified by the management of the company at least once in a year. It may be useful for the company to determine the frequency of verification by ‘A-B-C’ classification of inventories, ‘A’ category items being verified more frequently than ‘B’ category and the latter more frequently than ‘C’ category items.
- (f) The Order further requires the auditor to examine whether material discrepancies have been noticed on verification of inventories when compared with book records. Such an examination is possible when quantitative records are maintained for inventories but in many cases circumstances may warrant that records of individual issues (particularly for stores items) are not separately maintained and the closing inventory is established only on the basis of a year-end physical verification. Where such day-to-day records are not maintained, the auditor will not be able to arrive at book inventories except on the basis of an annual reconciliation of opening inventory, purchases and consumption. This reconciliation is possible when consumption in units can be co-related to the production, or can be established with reasonable accuracy. Where such reconciliation is not possible, the auditor would be unable to determine the discrepancies. If the item for which the discrepancy cannot be established is not material, the discrepancy, if any, will also not be material. For example, an item categorised as ‘C’ in ABC analysis might not be material and therefore, the discrepancy, if any, in regard to such an item would not be material. In other cases, however, the auditor will have to report that he is unable to determine the discrepancy, if any, on physical verification for the item or class of items to be specified.

⁵ Here it may be noted that AS-2 has been amended effective from 2016-17 which describe the same as “Inventories do not include spare parts, servicing equipment and standby equipment which meet the definition of property, plant and equipment as per AS 10, “Property, Plant and Equipment””

38. Whether the company has granted any loans, secured or unsecured to companies, firms, Limited Liability Partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Companies Act, 2013. If so,

- a) Whether the terms and conditions of the grant of such loans are not prejudicial to the company's interest;
- b) Whether the schedule of repayment of principal and payment of interest has been stipulated and whether the repayments or receipts are regular;
- c) If the amount is overdue, state the total amount overdue for more than 90 days, and whether reasonable steps have been taken by the company for recovery of the principal and interest. [Paragraph 3(iii)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) There are three clauses under paragraph 3 (iii) of the Order. It is clarified that the auditor's comments on all the three clauses are to be made with reference to the loans granted to companies, firms, limited liability partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act.
- (b) Clause (iii)(a) covers determination of terms and conditions at the time of the grant of the loan. In this regard it may be noted the though the clause uses the term "grant" which would ordinarily be understood to mean loans granted/given during the year, however, it may be appropriate to include such loans also that were renewed during the year. Clauses (iii)(b) and (iii)(c) cover the loans granted during the year and also all loans having opening balances.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (c) The duty of the auditor, under this clause, is to determine whether the company has granted any loans, secured or unsecured to companies, firms, limited liability partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act. If the company has done so, the auditor should report on the matters specified in sub-clauses (a), (b) and (c) of the clause 3(iii). The auditor is required to disclose the requisite information in his report in respect of all parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act irrespective of the period to which such loan relates. Further, there is no stipulation regarding the loan being given in cash or in kind. In the absence of such stipulation, the auditor is required to disclose the requisite information as specified in sub-clauses (a), (b) and (c) of the clause 3(iii), in his report in respect of all kind of loans whether long term or short term, whether given in cash or in kind to the parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act.
- (d) Under section 189 of the Act, every company is required to maintain one or more registers which contain the particulars of all contracts or arrangements to which sub-section (2) of section 184 or section 188 of the Act applies. The particulars of all contracts or arrangements in which directors are interested is required to be maintained by every company in Form MBP-4 as specified in Rule 16(1) of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014. It is, however, suggested that the auditor should acquaint himself with all the requirements of sections 184, 188 and 189 of the Act and rules there under.

- (e) The auditor should obtain a list of companies, firms, limited liability partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act from the management. The auditor may also consider verifying returns filed or certificates obtained by the management in this regard. The auditor should examine all loans (secured or unsecured) granted by the company to identify those loans granted to companies, firms, limited liability partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act.
- (f) It may so happen that a party listed in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act might have taken a loan from a company and repaid it during the same financial year. Therefore, while examining the loans, the auditor should also take into consideration the loan transactions that have been squared-up during the year and report such transactions under this clause. For example, the company has, during the financial year, granted a loan of Rs. 1,00,000/- to a firm in which one of the directors of the company is interested and the firm repays the loan during the financial year concerned. The auditor is also required to consider such transaction while commenting upon this clause of the Order.

Whether the terms and conditions of the grant of such loans are not prejudicial to the company's interest; [Paragraph 3(iii)(a)]

Relevant Provision

- (a) This clause, read with Paragraph 3 (iii) of the Order, requires the auditor to examine and comment whether the terms and conditions of loans granted by the company (whether secured or unsecured) to companies, firms, Limited Liability Partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act are prejudicial to the interest of the company.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (b) The auditor should examine agreements entered into by the company with the parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act or any other supporting documents available for ascertaining the terms and conditions of all loans granted by the company to such companies, firms, Limited Liability Partnerships or other parties.
- (c) The auditor's duty is to determine whether, in his opinion, the terms and conditions of the loans given are prejudicial to the interest of the company. The "terms and conditions" would primarily include rate of interest, security, terms and period of repayment and restrictive covenants, if any. In determining whether the terms of the loans are prejudicial, the auditor would have to give due consideration to the other factors connected with the loan, including its ability to lend, terms of its borrowings, borrower's financial standing, credit rating, if available, the nature of the security, rate of interest and so on.

For the purpose of reporting under this clause the auditor may consider clause (7) of Section 186 of the Act wherein it is specified that no loan, covered under this section, shall be given at a rate of interest lower than the prevailing yield of one year, 3 year, five year or ten year government security close to the tenor of the loan, to the extent applicable.

- (d) It may be mentioned that clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 143 of the Act also requires the auditor to inquire whether loans and advances made by the company on the basis of security have been properly secured and whether the terms on which they have been made are prejudicial to the interests of the company or its members. The auditor's inquiry under the aforesaid clause may also be useful for the purposes of reporting under this clause.
- (e) Further, the auditor may also come across a situation where the company has a policy of providing loans at concessional rates of interest to its employees and such a loan has been given to a relative of the director who is also an employee of the company. In such a case also, the auditor would be required to examine and comment whether loan is prejudicial to the interests of the company. It may, however, be noted that normally such terms as per the policy followed by the company cannot be said to be prejudicial to the interest of the company if other employees of the company also receive the loan on the same terms.
- (f) The following is an example of an unfavourable comment by the auditor under this clause:

“According to the information and explanations given to us and based on the audit procedures conducted by us, we are of the opinion that the terms and conditions of loans granted by the company to two parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Companies Act, 2013, (total loan amount granted Rs ---- and balance outstanding as at balance sheet date Rs -- -----) are prejudicial to the company's interest on account of the fact that the loans have been granted at an interest rate of X% per annum which is significantly lower than the cost of funds to the company and also lower than the prevailing yield of government security close to the tenor of the loan”

Whether the schedule of repayment of principal and payment of interest has been stipulated and whether the repayments or receipts are regular; [Paragraph 3(iii)(b)]

Relevant Provision

- (a) This part of the clause requires the auditor to report upon the stipulation of schedule of repayment of principal and payment of interest and on regularity of repayments of principal amount of loans and receipts of interest thereon. The scope of auditor's inquiry under this clause is restricted in respect of companies, firms, Limited Liability partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (b) The auditor has to examine from the loan agreements / mutually agreed letter of arrangement, as the case may be, whether the schedule of repayment of principal and payment of interest has been stipulated at the time of sanction. If there is no such agreement / arrangement or the agreement / arrangement does not contain the schedule of repayment of principal and payment of interest, the auditor shall report that there is no stipulation of schedule of repayment of principal and payment of interest.

- (c) The auditor has to examine whether the repayment of principal and receipt of interest are regular. The word 'regular' should be taken to mean that the principal and interest should normally be received whenever they fall due, respectively.
- (d) In case where the auditee company is a non-banking finance company, the auditor, for reporting under this clause, would also need to refer various directions for non-banking finance companies issued by Reserve Bank of India.
- (e) In case of non-stipulation of schedule of repayment of principal & payment of Interest, the auditor should state the fact and may report that he is unable to make specific comment on the regularity of repayment of principal & payment of interest, in such cases.
- (f) In case where the schedule of repayment of principal & payment of interest is stipulated but repayment of principal or payment of interest is not regular then the auditor may report the fact and may give no. of cases and remarks, if any.

If the amount is overdue, state the total amount overdue for more than 90 days, and whether reasonable steps have been taken by the company for recovery of the principal and interest. [Paragraph 3(iii)(c)]

Relevant Provision

- (a) This clause requires the auditor to state the total amount overdue for more than 90 days and whether reasonable steps have been taken by the company for recovery of the principal and interest. An amount is considered to be overdue when the payment has not been received on the due date as per the lending arrangement. In such cases, the auditor has to examine the steps, if any, taken for recovery of this amount. It may, however, be noted that the scope of the auditor's inquiry under this clause is restricted to loans given by the company to parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (b) Under this clause, the auditor is required to disclose total amount overdue for more than 90 days. The auditor should examine the agreement or other documents containing the schedule of repayment of the loans granted to parties covered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act. The auditor should then verify whether the repayments as per the books of account are in accordance with the schedule of repayment of the loans as per agreement or arrangement. This examination would enable the auditor to determine the total amount overdue (principal and interest) for more than 90 days from such parties as at balance sheet date. The auditor should disclose the aggregate of the total amount of overdue for more than 90 days in respect of loans granted to such parties.

- (c) While examining whether reasonable steps have been taken by the company for recovery of principal and interest, the auditor would have to consider the facts and circumstances of each case, including the amounts involved. It is not necessary that steps to be taken must necessarily be legal steps. Depending upon the circumstances, the degree of delay in recovery and other similar factors, issue of reminders or the sending of an advocate's or solicitor's notice, may amount to "reasonable steps" even though no legal action is taken. The auditor is not, therefore, required to comment on the mere absence of legal steps if he is otherwise satisfied that reasonable steps have been taken by the company. The auditor should obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the fact that reasonable steps have been taken for recovery of the principal and interest of loans granted by the company. The auditor should ask the management to give in writing, the steps which have been taken. The auditor should arrive at his opinion only after consideration of the management's representations and other relevant evidence.
- (d) Reporting of such cases may be made incorporating following details:
- No. of Cases
 - Principal Amount Overdue
 - Interest Overdue
 - Total Overdue
 - Remarks, if any (specify whether reasonable steps have been taken by the Company for recovery of principal amount and interest)

39. In respect of loans, investments, guarantees, and security whether provisions of section 185 and 186 of the Companies Act, 2013 have been complied with. If not, provide the details thereof. [Paragraph 3(iv)]

Compliance of Section 185 of the Companies Act 2013: Loan to directors, etc.

Relevant Provisions

- (a) Under this clause the auditor is required to report on the compliance of Section 185 of the Act. The text of section 185 is reproduced in APPENDIX V to this Guidance Note.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (b) For this purpose, the auditor should carry out the following procedures:
- (i) Obtain from the management the details of the directors or any other person in whom the director is interested. He may also check the details of the persons covered under this clause from MBP-1 and from the Register maintained u/s 189 of the Act.
 - (ii) Obtain and check the details of the transactions carried out with such persons, including of any guarantee given and security provided.
 - (iii) Further examine the details to find out whether any of the transaction is attracting the provisions of section 185 of the Act.

- (iv) In case of transactions that are covered under the exceptions as provided under section 185, the auditor should obtain the necessary evidence in support of such exception.
- (c) Section 185 prohibits advance of any loan to directors, etc., directly or indirectly. What is an indirect loan is not defined in section 185 or elsewhere in the Act. Indirect is interpreted in case of Dr. Freddie Ardeshir Mehta v. Union of India [1991] 70 Comp. Cas. 210 (Bom.) to mean a loan to a director through the agency of one or more intermediaries. For example, if company A borrows from company B and lends the same to company C and loan from B to C is covered by section 185. In this case section 185 shall also be applicable in case of lending from company A to C because it would be construed as an indirect loan from B to C.
- (d) The auditor should report the nature of non-compliance, the maximum amount outstanding during the year and the amount outstanding as at the balance sheet date in respect of
 - (i) the Directors; and
 - (ii) persons in whom directors are interested (specify the relationship with the Director concerned).

B. Compliance of Section 186 of the Companies Act 2013: Loan and investment by company

Relevant Provisions

- (a) Under this clause the auditor is also required to report on the compliance of Section 186 of the Act, which governs giving of loans, and guarantee or providing and security in connection with a loan, by a company to any person or other body corporate and acquiring securities of any other body corporate by a company. The section also prohibits a company from making investments through more than two layers of investment companies. The text of Section 186 and relevant extract of Rules 11, 12 & 13 of Companies (Meeting of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014 is reproduced in Appendix V to this Guidance Note.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (b) The duty of the auditor under this clause is to determine whether the loans and investments made by the company comply with the requirements of the provisions of Section 186 of the Act.

For this purpose the auditor should:

- (i) Obtain the details of, loans given to any person or other body corporate, guarantee given or security provided in connection with a loan to any other body corporate or person and securities acquired of any other body corporate by way of subscription, purchase or otherwise, made during the year as well as the outstanding balances as at the beginning of the year.
- (ii) Check whether, at any point of time during the year in case of aforesaid transactions, the company has exceeded the limit of sixty per cent of its paid-up share capital, free reserves and securities premium account or one hundred per cent of its free reserves (as defined in section 2(43) of the Act and securities premium account, whichever is more.

If it exceeds the limits specified above, whether prior approval by means of a special resolution passed at a general meeting has been obtained.

- (iii) Check whether the company has made investments through more than two layers of investment companies
 - (iv) Check whether the company has disclosed the full particulars of the loan given, investment made or guarantee given or security provided in the financial statement including the purpose for which the same is proposed to be utilized by the recipient.
 - (v) Check whether the company has passed the board resolution as prescribed and obtained the prior approval, wherever required, from the public financial institution concerned where any term loan is subsisting.
 - (vi) Check whether the loan has been given to company registered under section 12 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992, if so, whether the inter-corporate loan or deposits taken by such company are within the limits prescribed, if so, obtain the certificate of statutory auditors of that company from the management to ensure the compliance.*
 - (vii) Check whether rate of interest is not lower than the prevailing yield of one year, three year, five year or ten year government security closest to the tenor of the loan granted.
 - (viii) Check if the company is in default in the repayment of any deposits accepted or in payment of interest thereon, then the company is not allowed to give any loan or guarantee or any security or an acquisition till such default is subsisting.
 - (ix) Check whether the company has maintained a register (as per MBP-2) in the manner as prescribed and also check the compliances of other provisions and relevant rules.
 - (x) It may be noted that the aforesaid section is not applicable in respect of loan made, guarantee given or security provided by banking company or an insurance company or a housing finance company in the ordinary course of its business or a company engaged in the business of financing of companies or of providing infrastructural facilities,. However the restriction with regard to the investment through more than two layers of investment companies would be applicable for such companies also. The auditor may ensure compliance accordingly.
- (c) It may also be noted that the provisions of section 186 of the Act shall not apply to a government company engaged in defence production and a government company, other than a listed company, in case such company obtains approval of the ministry or department of the central government which is administratively in charge of the company, or, as the case may be, the State Government before making any loan or giving any guarantee or providing any security or making any investment under the section. Relevant Provisions

- (a) The clause, in addition to requiring the auditors to report on compliance with the requirements of sections 73 to 76 of the Act, and the directives of the Reserve Bank of India for acceptance of public deposits, also requires the auditor to report on compliance with the order, if any, passed by the Company Law Board or National Company Law Tribunal or Reserve Bank of India or any Court or any other Tribunal.

- (b) Section 2(31) has defined 'deposit' to include any receipt of money by way of deposit or loan or in any other form by a company, but does not include such category of amount as may be prescribed in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India.
- (c) Section 73 of the Act, prohibits a company (other than a banking company, non-banking financial company (NBFC) and such other company as may be specified by the central government in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India), to invite, accept or renew deposits from the public except in the manner provided in this section and the Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 2014.
- (d) Section 76 of the Act, permits the public companies having specified net worth or turnover, to accept deposits from persons other than its members subject to compliance with section 73 and the Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 2014.
- (e) The central government in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India has notified the Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 2014. These Rules are not applicable to a banking company, a NBFC, a housing finance company and a company specified by the central government under the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 73 of the Act.
- (f) The Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 2014 cover the following main items:

 - (ix) Maintenance of liquid assets;
 - (x) general provisions regarding the repayment of deposits and payment of interest;
 - (xi) the returns to be filed with the Registrar of Companies .

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (g) The auditor should plan to test for compliance with the provisions of sections 73 to 76 of the Act and the Rules made thereunder i.e. the Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 2014. For such purpose, the auditor should also obtain an understanding of the requirements of sections 73 to 76 and rules thereunder.
- (h) The auditor should examine compliance by the company with regard to all the matters specified in the sections and the Rules and not merely to the limits of the deposits. Where the number of deposits is very large, it is obviously not feasible for the auditor to satisfy himself that every single deposit complies with the rules. He should, therefore, examine the system by which deposits are accepted and records are maintained and make a reasonable test check to ensure the correctness of the system. The auditor may also make a “check list” to ensure that all the requirements of the Rules regarding the records to be maintained, returns to be filed, etc., are complied with.
- (i) The auditor should examine the efficacy of the internal controls instituted by the company so that the deposits accepted by the company remain within the limits. It may be difficult for the auditor to ascertain that deposits accepted by the company are within the limits on each day of the accounting year. He would, therefore, be justified in making a reasonable test check to ensure that the company has not accepted deposits during the year in excess of the limits. For financing companies, the auditor should make a similar examination having regard to the Reserve Bank directives in force from time to time.
- (j) Apart from the audit procedures mentioned above, the auditor should also enquire from the management about the possible instances of non-compliance with sections 73 to 76 or any other relevant provisions of the Act and the relevant rules. The auditor should also enquire from the management about any order passed by the Company Law Board or National Company Law Tribunal or Reserve Bank of India or any Court or any other Tribunal for contravention of these sections or any other relevant provision(s) of the Act and the relevant rules. The auditor should obtain a management representation to the effect whether:
 - (i) the company has complied with the directives issued by the Reserve Bank of India and the provision of section 73 to 76 (as the case may be) of the Act and the relevant rules; and
 - (ii) where an order has been passed by any of the relevant authorities mentioned in the clause, and if so, the company has complied with the requirements of the Order.
- (k) In case where the auditor is of the view that any kind of contravention of sections 73 to 76 or any other relevant provisions of the Act or relevant rules or directives from Reserve Bank of India, if any, has taken place, the auditor should state in his report that the provisions of that section(s) and/or relevant rules, as the case may be, have not been complied with. The auditor should also report the nature of contraventions.
- (l) The auditor, under this clause, is required to verify whether the company has complied with the order passed by Company Law Board or National Company Law Tribunal or Reserve Bank of India or any Court or any other Tribunal. Where any of such authorities has passed an order, the auditor should examine the steps taken by the company to comply with the said order. If the company has not complied with the order, the same is to be reported stating therein the nature of contravention and the fact that the company has not complied with the order issued by the Company Law Board or National Company Law Tribunal or Reserve Bank of India or any Court or any other Tribunal.

41. Whether maintenance of cost records has been specified by the Central Government under sub-section (1) of Section 148 of the Companies Act, 2013 and whether such accounts and records have been so made and maintained.
[Paragraph 3(vi)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) Section 148 (1) of the Act, specifies that the Central Government may, by order, in respect of such class of companies engaged in production of such goods or providing such services as may be prescribed, direct that particulars relating to the utilization of material or labour or to other items of cost as may be prescribed shall also be included in the books of account kept by that class of companies. Pursuant to this requirement and in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of section 469 of the Act, the Central Government has made rules in respect of a number of classes of companies. These books of account and records form part of the books of account of the company within the meaning of Section 2 (13) of the Act.

In exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (1) and (2) of section 469 and section 148 of the Act, the Central Government has issued the Companies (Cost Records and Audit) Rules, 2014 which has specified the list of class of companies in which maintenance of cost record is prescribed under section 148. The Companies (Cost Records and Audit) Rules, 2014 are available at Appendix VI to this Guidance Note.

- (b) The Companies (Cost Records and Audit) Rules, 2014 has defined “cost records” as books of account relating to utilization of materials, labour and other items of cost as applicable to the production of goods or provision of services as provided in section 148 of the Act, and these rules. These rules also prescribed the items of cost to be included in the Books of Account.
- (c) Sub-section (2) of Section 148 of the Act, also provides that where, in the opinion of the Central Government, it is necessary to do so it may by order, direct that the audit of cost records of class of companies, which are covered under sub-section (1) and which have a net worth of such amount as may be prescribed or a turnover of such amount as may be prescribed, shall be conducted in the manner specified in the order.
- (d) Rule 4 of the aforesaid Rules lays down the conditions subject to which the companies covered by these Rules need to get their cost records audited

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (e) The Order requires the auditor to report whether cost accounts and records have been made and maintained. The word “made” applies in respect of cost accounts (or cost statements) and the word “maintained” applies in respect of cost records relating to materials, labour, overheads, etc. The auditor has to report under the clause irrespective of whether a cost audit has been ordered by the central government. The auditor should obtain a written representation from the management stating (a) whether cost records are required to be maintained for any product(s) or services of the company under section 148 of the Act, and The Companies (Cost Records and Audit) Rules, 2014; and (b) whether cost accounts and records are being made and maintained regularly. The auditor should also obtain a list of books/records made and maintained in this regard. The Order does not require a detailed examination of such records. The auditor should, therefore, conduct a general review of the cost records to ensure that the records as prescribed are made and maintained. He should, of course, make such reference to the records as is necessary for the purposes of his audit.

- (f) It is necessary that the extent of the examination made by the auditor is clearly brought out in his report. The following wording is, therefore, suggested:

“We have broadly reviewed the books of account maintained by the company pursuant to the Rules made by the Central Government for the maintenance of cost records under section 148 of the Act, and are of the opinion that prima facie, the prescribed accounts and records have been made and maintained.”

- (g) Where the auditor finds that the records have not been written or are not prima facie complete, it will be necessary for the auditor to make a suitable comment in his report.

42. Whether the company is regular in depositing undisputed statutory dues including Provident Fund, employees’ State Insurance, Income-tax, Sales-tax, Service Tax, duty of customs, duty of excise, value added tax, cess and any other statutory dues to the appropriate authorities and if not, the extent of the arrears of outstanding statutory dues as on the last day of the financial year concerned for a period of more than six months from the date they became payable, shall be indicated; [Paragraph 3(vii)(a)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) This clause requires the auditor to report upon the regularity of the company in depositing undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, employees’ state insurance, income-tax, sales-tax, service tax, duty of custom, duty of excise, value added tax, cess and any other statutory dues to appropriate authorities. If the company is not regular in depositing the above mentioned undisputed statutory dues, the auditor is required to state the extent of arrears of statutory dues which have remained outstanding as at the last day of the financial year concerned for a period of more than six months from the date they became payable.
- (b) It may be noted that the use of the words “any other statutory dues” indicates that the clause covers all type of dues under various statues which may be applicable to a company having regard to its nature of business. Apart from the statutory dues listed, the auditor is required to report on the regularity of the company in depositing “any other statutory dues” payable by the company to appropriate authorities under the statutes applicable to the company.

- (c) The intention of the government, in this clause is to ascertain how regular the company is in depositing statutory dues with the appropriate authorities. Since the emphasis of the clause is on the regularity, the scope of auditor’s inquiry is restricted to only those statutory dues, which the company is required to deposit regularly to an authority. The auditor is not required to ascertain whether the company is regular in depositing amounts, which may be levied by an appropriate authority from time to time upon occurrence or non-occurrence of certain events and therefore are not required to be paid regularly. Any sum, which is to be regularly paid to an appropriate authority under a statute (whether Central, State or Local or Foreign) applicable to the company, should be considered as a “statutory due” for the purpose of this clause. In other words, obligation to pay a statutory due is created or arises out of a statute, rather than being based on an independent contractual or legal relationship. Thus, examples of “statutory dues” would include municipal taxes, taxes deducted at source, fees payable to the licensing authority in respect of business being carried on under license granted by an authority, say a cinema hall. Accordingly, any sum payable to an electricity company as electricity bill would not constitute a statutory due despite the fact that such a company has been established under a statute. This is so because the due has arisen on account of contract of supply of goods or services between the parties. However, care shall have to be taken that in case any dues are recoverable as arrears of land revenue by the concerned authority, the same shall be treated as a statutory due.
- (d) With reference to regularity, it is also important to distinguish amongst the various items stated in the clause. The auditor should very clearly understand the nature of each statutory due payable by the company while examining the aspect of regularity before commenting on the same. For instance, the regularity is a normal feature in case of certain statutory dues such as, provident fund, employees’ state insurance, sales tax, etc., because the companies are required to deposit the money with appropriate authorities on a monthly or quarterly basis. But this is not the case in respect of, say, duty of custom on import of goods or demands arising on account of assessment orders etc., which a company is required to pay as and when an event giving rise to the liability of the company occurs. Such dues should be construed to have been paid regularly if the company deposits them as and when they become due. However, the auditor would be required to comment upon the regularity of the company in depositing the installments, if any, granted by an authority in respect of a demand against the company.
- (e) An important issue to consider is the question of regularity of payment of import duty where the goods had been imported, say, five years back and were placed in the bonded warehouse and even till the end of the financial year under audit, the goods have not been removed from such warehouse. It may be noted that when the imported goods are lodged in a bonded warehouse, the payment of import duty is to be made when the goods are removed from the bonded warehouse. Till the time⁷ the importer opts to remove the goods from the warehouse, the importer is required to incur the rent and interest expenditure on the amount of customs duty payable. Since the payment of the custom duty is not due in the current case, the question of regularity does not arise in respect of custom duty. However, it may be noted that the interest and rent that are required to be incurred under section 61 of the Customs Act, 1962 would come under other statutory dues and the auditor would have to examine and comment upon the regularity of the company in depositing such interest and rent.

- (f) Non-payment of advance income tax would constitute default in payment of statutory dues. It may, however, happen that the company might not have any taxable income on the due dates on which advance tax is required to be paid. If such a company has an income after the last date on which the advance tax was required to be paid and consequently the company incurs interest under the relevant provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961, it should not be construed that the company is not regular in depositing advance tax.
- (g) It may be noted that the auditor has to report on the regularity of deposit of statutory dues irrespective of the fact whether or not there are any arrears on the balance sheet date. This is because there may be situations where a company has deposited the relevant dues before the end of the year while it has been in default in the matter for a significant part of the year. In cases where there are no arrears on the balance sheet date but the company has been irregular during the year in depositing the statutory dues, the auditor should state this fact while reporting under this clause.
- (h) For the purpose of this clause, the auditor should consider a matter as “disputed” where there is a positive evidence or action on the part of the company to show that it has not accepted the demand for payment of tax or duty, e.g., where it has gone into appeal. For this purpose, where an application for rectification of mistake (e.g., under section 154 of the Income Tax Act, 1961) has been made by the company, the amount should be regarded as disputed. Where the demand notice/intimation for the payment of a statutory due is for a certain amount and the dispute relates only to a part and not the whole of such amount, only such amount should be treated as disputed and the balance amount should be regarded as undisputed. It is not necessary for the auditor to examine the sustainability or otherwise of the claim of the company regarding disputed amounts. It is sufficient for his purpose if the evidence available shows that the amount is disputed by the company. It may also be noted that the Order has clarified that mere representation to the concerned Department shall not be treated as a dispute.
- (i) A question may arise that when do the statutory dues become payable. There can be two views with regard to the question. On the one hand, it can be argued that the statutory dues referred to in this clause become payable on the last date by which payment can be made without attracting penalty and/or interest under the relevant law. On the other hand, it can also be argued that the amounts referred to in the clause become so payable as at the date of the expiry of the stay granted by the authorities or, where installments have been granted for the payment of statutory dues referred to in the clause, the date on which the default occurs and the amount becomes payable to the authorities. As the purpose of this clause is to indicate the amounts which have become actually payable and are outstanding as at the last day of the financial year concerned for a period of more than six months from the date they became payable, the latter view seems to conform more closely to the requirements of the Order.

⁷ It may be noted that section 61 of the Customs Act, 1962 provides that any goods deposited in the warehouse may be stored upto a period of one year in the bonded warehouse. The time limit is five years in case of capital goods and for other goods three years which are intended for use in any 100% EOU. The said Act, however, also provides for extension of the warehousing period by the relevant authorities subject to certain prescribed conditions.

It may be noted that penalty and/or interest levied under the respective laws would be covered within the term “amounts payable”.

- (j) The report should be restricted to the actual arrears and should not include the amounts which have not fallen due for payment to appropriate authority and have been recognised as outstanding dues at the balance sheet date.
- (k) It is possible that in a large company where there are a number of departments with separate payrolls and where payments are spread over a number of days, the collection of data regarding the provident fund/employees’ state insurance collections and the company’s contribution thereto may take some time. In order to ensure that deposit of the dues is made in time, the company may make lump-sum deposits of estimated amounts and adjust the excess or deficit against the following month’s deposit. If this method is consistently followed and the difference between the total dues and the lump-sum deposit is not significant, it need not be considered that dues have not been regularly deposited and no unfavorable comment is necessary.⁸

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (l) The auditor should make plans to test whether the company is regular in depositing undisputed statutory dues. The auditor, in order to be able to comment on this clause, should have a general understanding of the various statutes governing the company and the dues payable by the company under those statutes. The auditor should also enquire of the management of the company about the statutes under which the company is required to pay any statutory dues. The auditor should also discuss with the management, the policies or procedures adopted for identification and payment of statutory dues. The auditor may also obtain from the management or himself prepare a calendar of dates for submission of various statutory dues by the company for his reference.
- (m) The information necessary to comply with this requirement of the Order may be obtained from the company in the form of a statement. The statement should contain a list of various statutes under which the company is required to make payments regularly to appropriate authorities, the kind of payments under each statute, the due date for making the payment to the appropriate authority, the date on which the payment is made by the company, the arrears not due and the arrears overdue for more than six months. The auditor should verify the statement provided by the management with the underlying documents and records. The auditor's general understanding of the various statutes governing the company and the dues payable by the company under those statutes would help the auditor in assessing the completeness of the statement. The auditor should recognise that there could be a situation that a statutory due might have become payable but has not been captured by the accounting and internal control systems established by the enterprise and, therefore, the auditor should perform procedures to mitigate risk arising from such a situation.

- (n) The auditor should obtain a written representation with reference to the date of the balance sheet from the management:
 - (i) specifying the cases and the amounts considered disputed;
 - (ii) containing a list of the cases and the amounts in respect of the statutory dues which are undisputed and have remained outstanding for a period of more than six months from the date they became payable; and
 - (iii) containing a statement as to the completeness of the information provided by the management.
- (o) While the auditor has to report upon the regularity of the deposit, he is not required to specify in detail each instance where there has been a delay or the extent of the delay. It should be sufficient if he indicates whether generally the deposits have been regular or otherwise. The following are examples of the wordings, which may be used in relevant situations:
 - (i) "undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, or employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales-tax, service tax, duty of custom , duty of excise, value added tax, cess have been regularly deposited by the company with the appropriate authorities in all cases during the year".
 - (ii) "undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales-tax, service tax, duty of custom, duty of excise, value added tax, cess have generally been regularly deposited with the appropriate authorities though there has been a slight delay in a few cases".
 - (iii) "undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales-tax, service tax, duty of custom, duty of excise, value added tax, cess have not generally been regularly deposited with the appropriate authorities though the delays in deposit have not been serious".
 - (iv) "undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales-tax, service tax, duty of custom , duty of excise , value added tax, cess have not been regularly deposited with the appropriate authorities and there have been serious delays in a large number of cases".
- (p) If the auditor is of the opinion that the company is not regular in depositing undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales-tax, service tax, duty of custom , duty of excise , value added tax, cess and any other statutory dues with the appropriate authorities, the extent of the arrears of outstanding statutory dues as at the last day of the financial year concerned for a period of more than six months from the date they became payable, are required to be mentioned by the auditor in his audit report. In indicating the arrears, the period to which the arrears relate should also preferably be given and further, wherever possible, the fact of subsequent clearance or otherwise may also be indicated. The auditor may report in the following format:-

Statement of Arrears of Statutory Dues Outstanding for More than Six Months

Name of the Statute	Nature of the Dues	Amount (Rs.)	Period to which the amount relates	Due Date	Date of Payment	Remarks, if any
----------------------------	---------------------------	---------------------	---	-----------------	------------------------	------------------------

43. Where dues of income Tax or sales Tax or service Tax or duty of customs or duty of excise or value added tax have not been deposited on account of any dispute, then the amounts involved and the forum where dispute is pending shall be mentioned. {A mere representation to the concerned Department shall not be treated as a dispute.} [Paragraph 3(vii)(b)]

Relevant Provisions

(a) This clause requires that in case of disputed statutory dues, the amounts involved should be stated along with the forum where the dispute is pending. Therefore, even minor amounts would be required to be reported under this clause. The amount should be reported in a manner so that the reader is able to understand the dispute and the amount involved therein.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

(b) The audit procedures applied by the auditor for commenting on the previous clause, including obtaining a statement from the management in regard to the matters specified in the clause, would help the auditor in determining the dues of sales tax/income tax/duty of customs/service tax/duty of excise that have not been deposited on account of any dispute, the amounts involved and the forum where dispute is pending. The auditor should also obtain a management representation about the disputed dues, the amounts involved and the forum where the dispute is pending. The auditor should carry out necessary audit procedures to verify the information provided by the management.

(c) A show-cause or similar notice generally contains the requirements/queries of the assessing officer. Normally, issuance of a show cause notice by the concerned department should not be construed to be a demand payable by the company. However, in some cases, a show cause notice and demand may be combined in one document. Normally, in such cases, the demand would not be construed to have arisen till the time the assessee has disposed off the requirements of the show cause order. Hence, it would be necessary to evaluate each situation individually.

- (d) Tax demands that have been set aside are clearly not 'dues'. Similarly, if a demand has been referred for reassessment and the effect of such referral is the cancellation of the earlier demand, this too would not constitute an amount due. The wording of the order would be of significance; if the demand is not cancelled, it will remain disputed dues. As far as demands that have been stayed are concerned, these should be regarded as disputed dues. These should be disclosed along with a disclosure of the fact of stay. The fact that a stay has been granted does not mean that the authority granting the stay has held that the amount in question is not a valid demand against the company. The stay normally is a concession that the amount may not be deposited immediately or that it may be deposited in installments. Sometimes a stay is granted if the assessee provides a bank guarantee. It may also be noted that there may be a situation that the appellate authority has decided a case in favour of the company but the Department may prefer to make an appeal to a higher authority. In such a case, there is considered to be no dispute until the time the Department makes an appeal to the relevant appellate authority. Further, in case where the amount under the dispute is pending for an appeal to be filed and the time limit for filing the appeal has lapsed, the disputed amount would become a statutory due and the reporting responsibilities of the auditor as are applicable to any other undisputed statutory due under clause 3(vii)(a) of the Order would become applicable. Further, in case where the amount under dispute has not been paid before filing the appeal and no appeal is filed within the time allowed and the time limit for filing the appeal has expired, the disputed amount would become a statutory due.
- (e) It is possible that in respect of same nature of statutory dues, there may be more than one dispute pertaining to different periods for which, appeals might have been filed separately. For example, different years' income tax liabilities might have been disputed at different levels of appellate authorities. Hence, in such cases, the information required by the clause should be given separately in respect of each period. In the case of a large company having a number of manufacturing and marketing divisions, it would be quite normal that many cases relating to sales tax, income tax, excise, customs, value added tax, etc., are disputed and are pending at various stages. It cannot be the intention of the clause that each case is listed separately. It is, therefore, proper to summarise the cases stage-wise under each broad head, e.g., sales tax, income-tax, duty of customs, duty of excise, and give the particulars as indicated in paragraph (g) below.
- (f) The information required by the clause may be reported in the following format:

Statement of Disputed Dues

Name of the Statute	Nature of the Dues	Amount (Rs.)	Period to which the amount relates	Forum where dispute is pending	Remarks, if any
----------------------------	---------------------------	---------------------	---	---------------------------------------	------------------------

- (g) Further, a plain reading of the clause suggests that the amounts to be reported under clause 3(vii)(b) of the Order are those which have not been deposited on account of any dispute, irrespective of the treatment of such disputed amounts in accounts. It is quite possible that an amount is disputed and has not been deposited but on consideration of the likely outcome of the dispute, a provision has been made in the accounts. Such an amount will need to be reported, notwithstanding that it has been provided for. Similarly, even if it had not been provided for, it would have to be reported as long as it is not deposited. It is also possible that an amount is disputed, has been deposited and on consideration of the likely outcome of the dispute, has been shown as a recoverable. Though such an amount is not contemplated for reporting under the clause, since it has been deposited, the fact of such deposit having been made under protest should be brought out by the auditor in his report under the clause.

Whether a disputed amount should be provided for in the accounts or not will need to be judged in the context of Accounting Standard (AS) 4, "Contingencies and Events Occurring After the Balance Sheet Date and/or Accounting Standard (AS) 29, "Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets".

44. Whether the company has defaulted in repayment of loans or borrowing to a financial institution, bank, government or dues to debenture holders? If yes, the period and the amount of default to be reported (in case of defaults to banks, financial institutions, and government, lender wise details to be provided). [Paragraph 3(viii)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) Under this clause, the auditor is required to report whether the company has defaulted in repayment of loans or borrowings⁹ to a financial institution or bank or Government or to dues to debenture holders. If the answer is in the affirmative, the auditor is also required to mention the period of default and the amount of default, lender wise.
- (b) A question that arises is whether the scope of the auditor's inquiry would cover defaults made by the company during the year only or whether the defaults committed in previous years and continuing until the year end would also be covered. It is clarified that the auditor should report the period and amount of all defaults existing at the balance sheet date irrespective of when those defaults have occurred.

⁹ The term "Borrowings" has been explained in paragraph 19 of this Guidance Note.

- (c) Though the word “default” has not been defined, in this regard, the word “default” would mean non-payment of dues to banks, Government, financial institutions or debenture holders on the last dates specified in loan documents or debentures trust deed, as the case may be.

For example, in the case of term loans, fixed dates are prescribed for repayment in the agreement or terms and conditions of the loans. The dates prescribed for repayments would operate as the last date of payments and any delay after this fixed date would amount to default and reporting required in case of aggregate default on account of repayment of loan.

- (d) Section 2 (39) of the Act defines “financial institution” to include a scheduled bank, and any other financial institution defined or notified under the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934. Text of Section 45-I(c) of RBI Act, 1934 is given in Appendix III to this Guidance Note.

In view of the said definition, Financial Institution includes all Banks, Public Financial Institutions, as well as Non – Banking Institutions and also includes Non-Banking Finance Companies.¹⁰

- (e) This clause also requires reporting on default in repayment of loans or borrowings taken from the Government. The term “Government” means the department of the Central Government, a State Government and its department and a Union Territory and its department, but shall not include any entity, whether created by a statute or otherwise, the accounts of which are not required to be kept in accordance with article 150 of the constitution or the rules made there under. (As defined u/s 65B (26A) of the Finance Act 1994). Accordingly, the term “Government” does not include Government Company/ Public Sector Undertaking/ Boards/ Authority/ Corporation and Foreign Government.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (f) The auditor should obtain the schedule of repayments to banks, financial institutions, government and debenture holders from the management of the company. The schedule should indicate the amount and the due dates of the payments that the company is required to make to banks, financial institutions, government and debenture holders.
- (g) The auditor should examine the agreement or other documents containing the terms and conditions of the loans and borrowings of the company taken from banks, Government and financial institutions. The auditor should also examine the debenture trust deed. This examination would enable the auditor in verifying the amount and due dates of the payments mentioned in schedule of repayments provided by the management of the company. The auditor should then verify whether the repayments as per the books of account are in accordance with the terms and conditions of the relevant agreement.
- (h) The auditor should obtain the confirmation of the concerned bank or financial institution as to the status of the loan account including the overdue position as at the balance sheet date.

¹⁰ Attention of the readers is invited to paragraphs 7 to 21 relating to applicability of the Order.

- (i) It may happen that the company might have submitted application for reschedulement/restructuring proposals to the lenders, which may be in different stages of processing. Submission of application for reschedulement/restructuring does not mean that no default has occurred. Accordingly, in such situations also the auditor should report the period of default and the amount of default. However, if the application for reschedulement of loan has been approved by the concerned bank or financial institution or if the default has been made good by the company during the year covered by the auditor's report, the auditor should state in his audit report the fact of reschedulement of loan or the fact of default having been made good.
- (j) It may be noted that for the purposes of reporting of default under this clause the term "borrowings" may be construed as the principal amount since it has been used in the context of the word "repayment" and the term "dues" would mean the principal and the interest,.
- (k) The auditor may come across a situation where there may be disputes between the company and the lender on certain issues relating to repayments. In such situations, the auditor should consider the prevailing terms and conditions only. However, he may give a brief nature of the dispute while reporting under this clause.
- (l) Under this clause the auditor is required to give lender wise details in case of banks, financial institutions and Government only and not in respect of individual debenture holders and may incorporate the following details:-

Particulars	Amount of default as at the balance sheet date	Period of default	Remarks, if any.
i) Name of the Lenders: In case of: Bank Financial institution & Government
ii) Debentures

45. Whether moneys raised by way of initial public offer or further public offer (including debt instruments) and term loans were applied for the purposes for which those are raised. If not, the details together with delays or default and subsequent rectification, if any, as may be applicable, be reported; [Paragraph 3(ix)]

Under this clause the auditor is required to report whether money raised by the company through Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments) and term loans have been utilised for the purposes for which those were raised.

Relevant Provisions

- (a) In case the company has made an Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments) the auditor is required to report upon the disclosure of end-use of the money by the management in the financial statements. The auditor is also required to state whether he has verified the disclosure made by the management in this regard. 'Securities' has been defined in Section 2(81) of the Act which refers to the definition of 'securities' in section 2(h) of the Securities Contract (Regulation) Act, 1956. Initial public offer or further public offer shall cover issue of equity shares, convertible securities, non-convertible debt securities, non-convertible redeemable preference shares, perpetual debt instruments, perpetual non-cumulative preference shares, Indian depository receipts, and securitized debt instruments.

- (b) Part 1 of Chapter III of the Act consisting of Sections 23 to 41 deals with Public Offer. Section 23(1)(a) of the said Act, provides that, "a public company may issue securities to public through prospectus which is also referred to as "public offer". Explanation to Section 23 states that for the purpose of aforesaid Chapter III, the expression, "public offer" includes initial public offer or further public offer of securities to public by a company, or an offer for sale of securities to the public by an existing shareholder, through issue of prospectus. In terms of Section 24 of the said Act, the Securities & Exchange Board of India (SEBI) is empowered to regulate issue of securities by making regulations on that behalf. Therefore, a company raising moneys by way of Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer shall have to follow the requirements of the applicable provisions of the Act, as well as the relevant SEBI Regulations.
- (c) Currently, there is no legal requirement under the Act to disclose the end use of money raised by Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments) in the financial statements. The companies, however, make such a disclosure in the Board's Report. Schedule III to the Act requires that only unutilized amount of any Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments) made by the company should be disclosed in the financial statements of a company. In the absence of any legal requirement of such disclosure, it appears that the clause envisages that the companies should disclose the end use of money raised by the Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments) in the financial statements by way of notes and the auditor should verify the same.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (d) Normally, the companies do mention the end-use of the money proposed to be raised through the Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments) in the offer document. An examination of the offer document would provide the auditor an understanding of the proposed end-use of money raised from public. The auditor should verify that the amount of end-use of money disclosed in the financial statements by the management is not materially different from the proposed and actual end use. The auditor should obtain a representation from the management as to the completeness of the disclosure with regard to the end-use of money raised as well as actual end utilization of money raised by Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments). If, for any reason, the auditor is not able to verify the end-use of money raised from Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments), he should state that he is not able to comment upon the disclosure of end-use of money by the company since he could not verify the same. He should also mention the reasons which resulted in the auditor's inability to verify the disclosure.

- (e) It may be noted that while reporting under this clause, the auditor should also have regard to the SEBI (Listing Obligations & Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 (hereinafter referred as “LODR”), which contain a number of disclosure requirements in the balance sheet with respect to utilization of proceeds of monies raised from public, whether by shares or debentures, as also disclosure requirements in respect of unutilized monies from such proceeds. From a perusal of the LODR, it would be apparent that the details have to be given of both ‘utilised’ and ‘unutilised’ monies. Since the purpose is to provide a picture to the reader of ‘utilisation of issue proceeds’, it is only logical that the sum total of utilised and unutilised portions equal the total issue size. This implies that the figure of ‘utilised’ money should be cumulative.
- (f) It may also be noted that according to the LODR, the issuer company is required to make arrangements for the use of proceeds of the issue to be monitored by financial institutions. The monitoring agency so appointed is required to submit its report to the SEBI, on a half-yearly basis, till the completion of the project. In case, the company has appointed a monitoring agency for the purpose of the issue, reports of the monitoring agency would also be helpful to the auditor while reporting under the clause.
- (g) The expression “debt instrument” is neither defined in the Order not under the Act. However, SEBI (Issue and Listing of Debt Securities), Regulations, 2008 which apply to public issue of debt securities and its listing, define the term “debt securities” In terms of Regulation 2(1)(e) of the said regulations, it means a non-convertible debt securities which create or acknowledge indebtedness, and include debenture, bonds and such other securities of a body corporate or any statutory body constituted by virtue of a legislation, whether constituting a charge on the assets of the body corporate or not, but excludes bonds issued by Government or such other bodies as may be specified by the Board, security receipts and securitized debt instruments. Further, in terms of the Explanation to Section 23 of the Act, “Public Offer” would include ADRs and GDRs.
- (h) In view of the aforesaid, the reporting by an auditor as stated in paragraph(a) above should only relate to moneys raised by the company by way of initial public offer or further public offer of equity shares, convertible securities (defined above) and debt securities (defined above). Since, offer for sale of specified securities (i.e. equity shares and convertible securities) to the public by any existing holder does not result in any moneys raised in a company, the same is outside the purview of the reporting requirement under this clause. It seems that strictly in terms of the definitions of public offer, initial public offer and further public offer cited above, moneys raised from foreign capital markets and by way of issuance of Global Depository Receipts and American Depository Receipts may not fall within the scope of reporting under this clause.
- (i) This clause also requires the auditor to examine whether term loans were applied for the purpose for which these loans were obtained. First of all, the auditor should ascertain whether the company has taken any “term loans”. Term loans normally have a fixed or pre-determined maturity period or a repayment schedule. In the banking industry, for example, loans with repayment period beyond 36 months are usually known as “term loans”. Cash credit, overdraft and call money accounts/deposits are, therefore, not covered by the expression “term loans”. Terms loans are generally provided by banks and financial institutions for acquisition of capital assets which then become the security for the loan, i.e., end use of funds is normally fixed.

- (j) The Order is silent as to whether this clause also covers term loans obtained from entities/persons other than banks/financial institutions. A strict interpretation of the clause would mean that the term loan obtained from entities/persons other than banks/financial institutions would also have to be examined by the auditor for the purpose of reporting under the clause.
- (k) The auditor should examine the terms and conditions subject to which the company has obtained the term loans. The auditor may also examine the proposal for grant of loan made to the bank. As mentioned above, normally, the end use of the funds raised by term loans is mentioned in the sanction letter or documents containing the terms and conditions of the loan. The auditor should ascertain the purpose for which term loans were sanctioned. The auditor should also compare the purpose for which term loans were sanctioned with the actual utilisation of the loans. The auditor should obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the utilisation of the amounts raised. If the auditor finds that the funds have not been utilized for the purpose for which they were obtained, the auditor’s report should state the fact.
- (l) It is not necessary to establish a one-to-one relationship with the amount of term loan and its utilisation. It is quite often found that the amount of term loan disbursed by the bank is deposited in the common account of the company from which subsequently the utilisation is made. In such cases, it should not be construed that the amount has not been utilised for the purpose it was raised.
- (m) It may happen that the company might have acquired improved version/model of assets as against the assets for which the loan had been sanctioned. For example, if out of a loan sanctioned for purchase of machinery to be used for manufacture of shoe upper is instead used to purchase a machine, which apart from manufacturing shoe uppers has certain additional manufacturing facilities. In such cases, it should not be construed that the loan has not been applied for the purpose for which it was raised.
- (n) Normally, the term lenders directly make the payment to the vendors/suppliers. In such cases, it becomes easier for the auditor to comment on the application of term loans.
- (o) It may so happen that the term loans taken during the year might not have been applied for the stated purpose during the year, for example, the loan was disbursed at the fag end of the year. In such a case, the auditor should mention in his audit report that the term loan obtained during the year has not been utilised. This also implies that the auditor, while making inquiry in respect of this clause, should also consider the term loans which although were taken in the previous accounting period but have been actually utilised during the current accounting period.
- (p) In case of term loans, raised against title deeds, long term FDRs, NSCs etc., where the lender is not concerned with the purpose for which it is being obtained, the auditor should clearly mention the fact that in absence of any stipulation regarding the utilization of loans from the lender, he is unable to comment as to whether the term loans have been applied for the purposes for which they were obtained. In case the specific purpose is not recorded and the general purpose/ bone fide business use is stated; in such cases the auditor should verify whether the company has invested or utilized the money for purposes other than objects of the company.

- (q) During construction phase, companies, may, temporarily invest the surplus funds to reduce the cost of capital or for other business reasons. However, subsequently the same are utilised for the stated objectives. In such cases, the auditor should mention the fact that pending utilisation of the funds raised through Initial Public Offer or Further Public Offer (including debt instruments) or term loans for the stated purpose, the funds were temporarily used for the purpose other than for which they were raised but were ultimately utilised for the stated end-use.
- (r) Where the auditor concludes that the initial public offer or the further public offer (including debt instruments) or the term loans were not applied for the purpose for which the same were raised/obtained, the auditor should mention in his report that the amount involved as well as the nature of default including delay in utilization. The auditor is also required to report the details of any subsequent rectifications made by the company.
- (s) A suggested reporting format under this cause is as follows:

In our opinion and according to the information and explanations given to us, the Company has utilized the money raised by way of initial public offer/ further public offer (including debt instruments) and the term loans during the year for the purposes for which they were raised, except for:

Nature of the fund raised	Details of default (Reason /Delay)	Amount (Rs.)	Subsequently rectified (Yes/No) and details

46. Whether any fraud by the company or any fraud on the company by its officers or employees has been noticed or reported during the year; If yes, the nature and the amount involved is to be indicated. [Paragraph 3(x)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) This clause requires the auditor to report whether any fraud has been noticed or reported by the company or any fraud on the company by its officers or employees during the year. If yes, the auditor is required to state the amount involved and the nature of fraud. The clause does not require the auditor to discover such frauds. The scope of auditor’s inquiry under this clause is restricted to frauds ‘noticed or reported’ during the year. The use of the words “noticed or reported” indicates that the management of the company should have the knowledge about the frauds by the company or on the company by its Officer and employees that have occurred during the period covered by the auditor's report. It may be noted that this clause of the Order, by requiring the auditor to report whether any fraud by the company or on the company by its Officer or employees has been noticed or reported, does not relieve the auditor from his responsibility to consider fraud and error in an audit of financial statements. In other words, irrespective of the auditor's comments under this clause, the auditor is also required to comply with the requirements of Standard on Auditing (SA) 240, "The Auditor's Responsibility Relating to Fraud in an Audit of Financial Statements". In this context, the auditor should also have regard to the Guidance Note on Reporting on Fraud under Section 143(12) of the Companies Act, 2013, issued by ICAI.

- (b) The term "fraud" refers to an intentional act by one or more individuals among management, those charged with governance, employees, involving the use of deception to obtain an unjust or illegal advantage. Although fraud is a broad legal concept, the auditor is concerned with fraudulent acts that cause a material misstatement in the financial statements. Misstatement of the financial statements may not be the objective of some frauds. Auditors do not make legal determinations of whether fraud has actually occurred. Fraud involving one or more members of management or those charged with governance is referred to as "management fraud"; fraud involving only employees including officers of the entity is referred to as "employee fraud". In either case, there may be collusion with third parties outside the entity. In fact, generally speaking, the "management fraud" can be construed as "fraud by the company".
- (c) Two types of intentional misstatements are relevant to the auditor's consideration of fraud - misstatements resulting from fraudulent financial reporting and misstatements resulting from misappropriation of assets.
- (d) Fraudulent financial reporting involves intentional misstatements or omissions of amounts or disclosures in financial statements to deceive financial statement users. Fraudulent financial reporting may involve:
 - (i) Deception such as manipulation, falsification, or alteration of accounting records or supporting documents from which the financial statements are prepared.
 - (ii) Misrepresentation in, or intentional omission from, the financial statements of events, transactions or other significant information.
 - (iii) Intentional misapplication of accounting principles relating to measurement, recognition, classification, presentation, or disclosure.
- (e) Misappropriation of assets involves the theft of an entity's assets. Misappropriation of assets can be accomplished in a variety of ways (including embezzling receipts, stealing physical or intangible assets, or causing an entity to pay for goods and services not received); it is often accompanied by false or misleading records or documents in order to conceal the fact that the assets are missing.
- (f) Fraudulent financial reporting may be committed by the company because management is under pressure, from sources outside or inside the entity, to achieve an expected (and perhaps unrealistic) earnings target particularly when the consequences to management of failing to meet financial goals can be significant. The auditor must appreciate that a perceived opportunity for fraudulent financial reporting or misappropriation of assets may exist when an individual believes internal control could be circumvented, for example, because the individual is in a position of trust or has knowledge of specific weaknesses in the internal control system.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (g) While planning the audit, the auditor should discuss with other members of the audit team, the susceptibility of the company to material misstatements in the financial statements resulting from fraud. While planning, the auditor should also make inquiries of management to determine whether management is aware of any known fraud or suspected fraud that the company is investigating.
- (h) The auditor should examine the reports of the internal auditor with a view to ascertain whether any fraud has been reported or noticed by the management. The auditor should examine the minutes of the audit committee, if available, to ascertain whether any instance of fraud pertaining to the company has been reported and actions taken thereon.

The auditor should enquire from the management about any frauds on the company that it has noticed or that have been reported to it. The auditor should also discuss the matter with other employees including officers of the company. The auditor should also examine the minute book of the board meeting of the company in this regard.

- (i) The auditor should obtain written representations from management that:
 - (i) it acknowledges its responsibility for the implementation and operation of accounting and internal control systems that are designed to prevent and detect fraud and error;
 - (ii) it believes the effects of those uncorrected misstatements in financial statements, aggregated by the auditor during the audit are immaterial, both individually and in the aggregate, to the financial statements taken as a whole. A summary of such items should be included in or attached to the written representation;
 - (iii) it has
 - a) disclosed to the auditor all significant facts relating to any frauds or suspected frauds known to management that may have affected the entity; and
 - b) it has disclosed to the auditor the results of its assessment of the risk that the financial statements may be materially misstated as a result of fraud.
- (j) Because management is responsible for adjusting the financial statements to correct material misstatements, it is important that the auditor obtains written representation from management that any uncorrected misstatements resulting from fraud are, in management's opinion, immaterial, both individually and in the aggregate. Such representations are not a substitute for obtaining sufficient appropriate audit evidence. In some circumstances, management may not believe that certain of the uncorrected financial statement misstatements aggregated by the auditor during the audit are misstatements. For that reason, management may want to add to their written representation words such as, "We do not agree that items constitute misstatements because [description of reasons]."

The auditor should consider if any fraud has been reported by them during the year under section 143(12) of the Act and if so whether that same would be reported under this Clause. It may be mentioned here that section 143(12) of the Act requires the auditor has reasons to believe that a fraud is being committed or has been committed by an employee or officer. In such a case the auditor needs to report to the Central Government or the Audit Committee. However, this Clause will include only the reported frauds and not suspected fraud.

- (k) Where the auditor notices that any fraud by the company or on the company by its officers or employees has been noticed by or reported during the year, the auditor should, apart from reporting the existence of fraud, also required to report, the nature of fraud and amount involved. For reporting under this clause, the auditor may consider the following:
 - (i) This clause requires all frauds noticed or reported during the year shall be reported indicating the nature and amount involved. As specified the fraud by the company or on the company by its officers or employees are only covered.
 - (ii) Of the frauds covered under section 143(12) of the Act, only noticed frauds shall be included here and not the suspected frauds.
 - (iii) While reporting under this clause with regard to the nature and the amount involved of the frauds noticed or reported, the auditor may also consider the principles of materiality outlined in Standards on Auditing.

47. Whether Managerial remuneration has been paid or provided in accordance with the requisite approvals mandated by the provisions of section 197 read with schedule V to the Companies Act? If not, state the amount involved and steps taken by the Company for securing refund of the same [Paragraph 3(xi)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) This clause requires the auditor to examine the compliance of Section 197 read with Schedule V of the Act, in respect of managerial remuneration paid or provided by the company and if not, then to report the amount involved along with the steps taken to secure refund of such amount. The text of section 197, the relevant extract of the Rules 4 & 5 of the Companies (Appointment & Remuneration of Managerial Personnel) Rules 2014 and Schedule V is reproduced in Appendix VII to this Guidance Note.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (b) Section 197 of the Act prescribes that the maximum ceiling for payment of managerial remuneration by a public company to its directors, including managing director and whole-time director and its manager which shall not exceed 11% of the net profit of the company in that financial year, computed in accordance with section 198 of the Act, except that the remuneration of the directors shall not be deducted from the gross profits.
- (c) It may be noted that section 197 applies only to a public company. The term “public company” has been defined under section 2(77) of the Act. Thereby, section 197 of the Act is not applicable to a Private Company, and, accordingly, reporting under this clause would not be required.
- (d) The term “Remuneration” under section 2(78) is defined to mean any money or its equivalent given or passed to any person for services rendered by him and includes perquisites as defined under the Income Tax Act, 1961. It may be noted that for the purposes of the Act, the term remuneration would include salaries, perquisites and commission on profits but would not include:
- (i) Sitting fees paid to directors in accordance with the provisions of the Act (sub-sections 2 and 5 of Section 197).
 - (ii) Remuneration payable to directors for services rendered by him of a professional nature (sub-section 4 of Section 197).
- (e) The auditor’s duty is to determine whether requisite approval mandated by the provisions of Section 197 read with Schedule V to the Act has been complied with:-
- (i) The overall managerial remuneration and requisite approval is summarized as under:-

S. No	Person entitled for remuneration	Maximum Remuneration in any financial year	If remuneration exceeds maximum remuneration in any financial year as provided under column (b)
1. In any other case 3% of net profits.	With the approval of the company in general meeting this limit may be exceeded

*Net profits as computed in the manner referred to in section 198.

The above percentage will be exclusive of any fees (sitting fees) payable to the directors under Section 197(5) of the Act.

- (ii) Where remuneration (other than sitting fees) is paid in case company has no profits or inadequate profits, the same should be in accordance with the limits prescribed in section II of Part II of Schedule V to the Act by passing a resolution as prescribed and when there is no default in repayment of any of its debts (including public deposits) or debentures or interest thereon for a continuous period of thirty days in the preceding financial year before the appointment of such managerial personnel. The limit as prescribed shall be doubled if the resolution passed by the shareholder is a special resolution and passed in the manner prescribed complying with conditions specified in Schedule V itself. The auditor needs to examine the conditions prescribed including required disclosures in the financial statements and compliance of such provisions.
 - (iii) If the company pays remuneration to a managerial person in excess of the amounts in section II of Part II of schedule V, the approval from Central Government is also required in the manner prescribed in section III.
- (f) If the managerial remuneration has been paid or provided which is not in accordance with the requisite approval mandated by the provisions of section 197 read with Schedule V to the Act, the clause requires that the auditor should disclose the “amount involved” and report the steps taken by the company to secure refund of the same. Since the Order does not clarify what constitutes “amounts involved”, the same may be construed as meaning such amount of remuneration that has been paid or provided in excess of the limits prescribed under section 197 read with Schedule V of the Act. For this purpose, any amount that may have recovered or partially recovered by the company during the year would not be reduced from the “amount involved”.

- (g) Section 197(10) of the Act provides that without the permission of Central Government, the company shall not waive recovery of the excess amount paid over and above the prescribed limit. The auditor must examine the arrangement or agreements entered by the company in respect of securing refund of excess amount paid and should ask the management to give in writing, the steps which have been taken in this regard. The auditor should obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the fact that steps have been taken by the company for securing refund of the same.
- (h) The default may be reported incorporating the following details:-
 - (i) Payment made to Director/ Whole time Director / Managing Director / Manager.
 - (ii) Amount paid/ provided in excess of the limits prescribed

Relevant Provisions

- (a) This clause requires the auditor to report whether, in the case of a Nidhi Company, net-owned funds to deposit liability ratio is more than 1:20 and the Nidhi Company is maintaining ten per cent unencumbered term deposit as specified in the Nidhi Rules 2014 to meet out the liability.
- (b) Section 406 (1) of the Act defines “Nidhi” to mean a company which has been incorporated as a Nidhi with the object of cultivating the habit of thrift and savings amongst its members, receiving deposits from, and lending to, its members only, for their mutual benefit, and which complies with such rules as are prescribed by the Central Government for regulation of such class of companies.
- (c) It may be noted that Ministry of Corporate Affairs on 31st March 2014, vide its Notification No. GSR 258(E) notified the ‘Nidhi Rules 2014’, which came into force on the first day of April 2014. The said Rules are reproduced in the Appendix VIII to this Guidance Note. These Rules apply to Nidhi company incorporated as a Nidhi pursuant to the provisions of Section 406 of the Act and also to the Nidhi companies declared under sub-section (1) of section 620A of the companies act 1956.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (d) It may be noted that as per Rule 5 (1) prescribed the requirements for minimum number of members, net owned fund etc. As per Rule 5 (1) every Nidhi shall, within a period of one year from the commencement of these rules, ensure that it has—

- (iii) unencumbered term deposits of not less than ten per cent of the outstanding deposits as specified in Rule 14; and
- (iv) ratio of net owned funds to deposits of not more than 1:20.

The auditor should note that as such a Nidhi Company can accept deposits not exceeding twenty times of its net owned funds as per last audited balance sheet. Furthermore as per Rule 14, every Nidhi is to invest and continue to keep invested, in encumbered term deposits with a Scheduled commercial bank (other than a co-operative bank or a regional rural bank), or post office deposits in its own name an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent of the deposits outstanding at the close of business on the last working day of the second preceding month, which needs to be examined.

- (e) As per Rule 3(d) Net owned funds were defined as the aggregate of paid up equity share capital and free reserves as reduced by accumulated losses and intangible assets appearing in the last audited balance sheet:

Provided that, the amount representing the proceeds of issue of preference shares, shall not be included for calculating Net Owned Funds.

- (f) A Nidhi company can accept fixed deposits, recurring deposits accounts and savings deposits from its members in accordance with the directions notified by the Central Government. The aggregate of such deposits is referred to as “deposit liability”.
- (g) The auditor should ask the management to provide the computation of the deposit liability and net-owned funds on the basis of the requirements contained herein above. This would enable him to verify that the ratio of deposit liability to net owned funds is in accordance with the requirements prescribed in this regard. The auditor should verify the ratio using the figures of net owned funds and deposit liability computed in accordance with what is stated above. The comments of the auditor should be based upon such a statement provided by the management and verification of the same by the auditor.
- (h) The auditor may report, incorporating the following as at the balance sheet date:-
 - (i) In case of shortfall in the ratio of net owned funds to the deposits, report the amount of shortfall and state the actual ratio of net owned funds to the deposits.
 - (ii) In case of shortfall with regard to the minimum amount of 10% as unencumbered term deposits, as specified in Nidhi Rules 2014, report the amount thereof.

49. Whether all transactions with the related parties are in compliance with section 177 and 188 of Companies Act, 2013 where applicable and the details have been disclosed in the Financial Statements etc., as required by the applicable accounting standards; [Paragraph 3(xiii)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) The duty of the auditor, under this clause is to report:
- (i) Whether all transactions with the related parties are in compliance with section 177 and 188 of the Companies Act, 2013 (“Act”)
 - (ii) Whether related party disclosures as required by relevant Accounting Standards (AS 18, as may be applicable) are disclosed in the financial statements
- (b) Section 188 of the Act is applicable to all classes of companies (including private companies). The Act envisages the approval of Board of Directors and/or the approval of the shareholders (by way of resolution passed in the general meeting of the company), as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of section 188. However:-
- (i) approval of shareholders by way of resolution is not required for transactions entered into between a holding company and its wholly owned subsidiary whose accounts are consolidated with such holding company and placed before the shareholders at the general meeting for approval.
 - (ii) approval of the Board of Directors and shareholders is not required in respect of related party transactions entered into by the company in its ordinary course of business and on an arm’s length basis.
- (c) The Related Party, with reference to a company is defined in section 2(76) of the Act. The transactions which are covered by section 188 are:
- (i) sale, purchase or supply of any goods or materials;
 - (ii) selling or otherwise disposing of, or buying, property of any kind;
 - (iii) leasing of property of any kind;
 - (iv) availing or rendering of any services;
 - (v) appointment of any agent for purchase or sale of goods, materials, services or property;
 - (vi) related party's appointment to any office or place of profit in the company, its subsidiary company or associate company; and
 - (vii) Underwriting the subscription of any securities or derivatives thereof, of the company.
- (d) Explanation (b) to Section 188(1) defines ‘arm’s length transaction’ to mean a transaction between two related parties that is conducted as if they were unrelated, so that there is no conflict of interest. Standard on Auditing (SA) 550, Related Parties defines arm’s length transaction as “a transaction conducted on such terms and conditions as between a willing buyer and a willing seller who are unrelated and are acting independently of each other and pursuing their own best interest.” The decision as to whether a transaction is at an arm’s length or not would need considering several factors such as benefits/ consideration for each of the parties to enter into the agreement, the prevalent market/industry practice, economic circumstances, the specific contractual understanding and / or terms between the parties, similar contracts executed between other unrelated parties, etc. For the purpose of this Clause the auditor may test the transaction of arm’s length basis based on the transfer pricing mechanism in use for the purposes of Income Tax Act, 1961.

- (e) The phrase ‘ordinary course of business’ is not defined under the Act. It seems that the ordinary course of business will cover the usual transactions, customs and practices of a business and of a Company. In many cases, it may be obvious that a transaction is in the ‘ordinary course of business.’ For example, a car manufacturing company sells a car to its group company. The price charged for the sale is the same as what it charges to other corporate customers who are unrelated parties. In this case, one may be able to conclude, without much difficulty, that the transaction has been entered into by the company in its ordinary course of business. Similarly, in certain extreme cases, it may be clear that the transaction is highly unusual and/ or extraordinary from the perspective of the company as well as its line of business. Hence, it may not be construed as being in the ‘ordinary course of business. Standard on Auditing (SA) 550 Related Parties (Paragraph A25) has listed certain examples of transactions outside the entity’s normal course of business:
- (i) Complex equity transactions, such as corporate restructurings or acquisitions
 - (ii) Transactions with offshore entities in jurisdictions with weak corporate laws
 - (iii) The leasing of premises or the rendering of management services by the entity to another party if no consideration is exchanged
 - (iv) Sales transactions with unusually large discounts or returns
 - (v) Transactions with circular arrangements, for example, sales with a commitment to repurchase
 - (vi) Transactions under contracts whose terms are changed before expiry.
- (f) The above examples are just illustrative and are not conclusive for the purposes of analysis under the Act. However, it provides some indicators based on which one may consider following aspects while performing evaluation of ‘ordinary course of business’:
- (i) Whether the transaction is covered in the objects of the company as envisaged in the Memorandum of Association;
 - (ii) Whether a transaction is usual or unusual, both from the company and its line of business perspective;

- (iii) Frequency: If a transaction is happening quite frequently over a period of time, it is more likely to be treated as an ordinary course of business. However, the inverse does not necessarily hold true;
- (iv) Whether transaction is taking place at arm's length;
- (v) Business purpose of the transaction;
- (vi) Whether transaction is done on similar basis with other third parties; and
- (vii) Size and volume of transaction.

The assessment of whether a transaction is in the ordinary course of business is likely to be very subjective, judgmental and will vary on case-to-case basis. The factors mentioned above may help in making this assessment.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (g) The auditor should obtain written representations from management and, where appropriate, those charged with governance that:
 - (i) They have disclosed to the auditor the identity of the entity's related parties and all the related party relationships and transactions of which they are aware; and
 - (ii) They have appropriately accounted for and disclosed such relationships and transactions in accordance with the requirements of the framework.
- (h) Circumstances in which it may be appropriate to obtain written representations from those charged with governance include:
 - (i) When they have approved specific related party transactions that
 - a) materially affect the financial statements, or
 - b) involve management.
 - (ii) When they have made specific oral representations to the auditor on details of certain related party transactions.
 - (iii) When they have financial or other interests in the related parties or the related party transactions.
 - (iv) Management's assertion of responsibility that related party transactions were conducted on terms equivalent to those prevailing in an arm's length transaction.
- (i) The auditor may also decide to obtain written representations regarding specific assertions that management may have made, such as a representation that specific related party transactions do not involve undisclosed side agreements.
- (j) The auditor should obtain a list of companies, firms or other parties, the particulars of which are required to be entered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act. The auditor should verify the entries made in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act from the declarations made by the directors in Form MBP-1 i.e., general notice received from a director under Rule 9(1) of The Companies (Meetings of Board and Power) Rules, 2014. The auditor should also obtain a written representation from the management concerning the completeness of the information so provided to the auditor. The auditor should review the information provided by the management. The auditor should also perform the following procedures in respect of the completeness of this information:

- (i) review his working papers for the prior years, if any, for names of known companies, firms or other parties the particulars of which are required to be entered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act; and
 - (ii) review the entity's procedures for identification of companies, firms or other parties the particulars of which are required to be entered in the register maintained under section 189 of the Act.
- (k) A difficulty in judging the arm's length of prices may also arise in cases where transactions are entered with sole suppliers. In such cases, the auditor may examine the prices paid with reference to list prices of the supplier concerned, other trade terms of the supplier, etc. It may be noted that the Company while determining whether the transactions entered into by it in its ordinary course of business with its related parties are on an arm's length basis must have documentary proof of same while entering into the transaction.
- (l) Section 177(4)(iv) of the Act requires that audit committee (of every listed companies and other classes of companies which is required to constitute audit committee) to approve transactions of the company with related parties.
- (m) The auditor is required to perform appropriate procedures to satisfy himself as regards compliance with section 177 and 188 so that auditor is able to appropriately report under this clause. Auditor can refer SA 550 Related Parties which has prescribed auditor's responsibilities regarding related party relationships and transactions when performing an audit of financial statements, including guidance on the procedures to be performed by auditors. The key aspects of SA 550 which would be relevant for reporting on this clause are:
- (i) Identified significant related party transactions outside the entity's normal course of business, detailed guidance is available in paragraph A38 to A41 of SA 550.
 - (ii) Assertions that related party transactions were conducted on terms equivalent to those prevailing in an arm's length transaction, detailed guidance is available in paragraph A42 to A45 of SA 550.
 - (iii) Evaluation of the accounting for and disclosure of identified related party relationships and transactions, detailed guidance is available in paragraph A46 to A47 of SA 550.
- (n) A smaller entity may not have the same controls provided by different levels of authority and approval that may exist in a larger entity. Accordingly, when auditing a smaller entity, the auditor may rely to a lesser degree on authorization and approval for audit evidence regarding the validity of significant related party transactions outside the entity's normal course of business. Instead, the auditor may consider performing other audit procedures such as inspecting relevant documents, confirming specific aspects of the transactions with relevant parties, or observing the owner-manager's involvement with the transactions.

- (o) Based on the procedures performed by the auditor, if auditor comes across any non-compliance, then, it should be duly reported. The following particulars may be incorporated:

Nature of the related party relationship and the underlying transaction	Amount involved (Rs.)	Remarks (details of non-compliance may be given)

50. Whether the company has made any preferential allotment or private placement of shares or fully or partly convertible debentures during the year under review and if so, as to whether the requirement of Section 42 of the Companies Act, 2013 have been complied with and the amount raised have been used for the purposes for which the funds were raised. If not, provide the details in respect of the amount involved and nature of non-compliance; [Paragraph 3(xiv)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) This clause requires that in case of private placement of shares or fully or partly convertible debentures, during the year under review, whether the requirements of section 42 of the Act and the Rules framed thereunder have been complied with. Further this clause also requires the auditor to report upon the utilization of the said funds for the purposes for which it has been raised, if not, the reporting is required giving details of the amount involved and nature of non-compliance.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (b) (i) The term ‘Private Placement’ has been defined under the Explanation (ii) to section 42(2) to mean any offer of securities or invitation to subscribe securities to a select group of persons by a company (other than by way of public offer) through issue of a private placement offer letter and which satisfies the conditions specified in section 42 of the Act. In addition, the provisions of Rule 14 of the Companies (Prospectus and Allotment of Securities) Rules, 2014 also need to be complied with while reporting under this clause.

The text of Section 42 of the Act and Rule 14 of the Companies (Prospectus & Allotment of Securities) Rules, 2014 are reproduced in Appendix IX and Appendix X to this Guidance Note.

- (ii) It may be noted that the term “preferential allotment” is not defined under the Act. Further this clause specifically relates to the compliance under section 42 of the Act only with respect to equity shares, preference share and fully or partly convertible debenture issued. The auditor needs to examine the compliance of the requirements of section 42 of the Act which deals with the private placement.
- (c) Section 42 of the Act requires, inter alia, as under:

- (i) Such private placement offer of securities or invitation to subscribe securities should be made to a select group of persons by a company (other than by way of public offer) through issue of a private placement offer letter.

The offer of securities or invitation to subscribe securities shall be made to such number of persons not exceeding two hundred, [excluding qualified institutional buyers and employees of the company being offered securities under a scheme of employees stock option as per provisions of clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 62], in a financial year and on such conditions (including the form and manner of private placement) as may be prescribed.

Qualified institutional buyer means as defined in the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2009. Section 42 provides maximum number of persons 50 or higher number which is prescribed by rule 14 of the Companies (Prospectus & allotment of securities) Rules, 2014 as 200 persons.

- (ii) If a company, listed or unlisted, makes an offer to allot or invites subscription, or allots, or enters into an agreement to allot, securities to more than the prescribed number of persons, whether the payment for the securities has been received or not or whether the company intends to list its securities or not on any recognised stock exchange in or outside India, the same shall be deemed to be an offer to the public and shall accordingly be governed by the provisions of Public offer.
- (iii) No fresh offer or invitation of private placement shall be made unless the allotments with respect to any offer or invitation made earlier have been completed or that offer or invitation has been withdrawn or abandoned by the company.
- (iv) Any offer or invitation not in compliance with the provisions of section 42 of the Act shall be treated as a public offer and respective provisions of the Act, the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 and the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 shall be required to be complied with.
- (v) All monies payable towards subscription of securities under section 42 of the Act shall be paid through cheque or demand draft or other banking channels but not by cash.
- (vi) A company making an offer or invitation on private placement shall allot its securities within sixty days from the date of receipt of the application money for such securities and if the company is not able to allot the securities within that period, it shall repay the application money to the subscribers within fifteen days from the date of completion of sixty days and if the company fails to repay the application money within the aforesaid period, it shall be liable to repay that money with interest at the rate of twelve percent per annum from the expiry of the sixtieth day.
- (vii) Also monies received on application under private placement shall be kept in a separate bank account in a scheduled bank and shall not be utilised for any purpose other than (a) for adjustment against allotment of securities; or (b) for the repayment of monies where the company is unable to allot securities.

- (viii) All offers covered under section 42 of the Act shall be made only to such persons whose names are recorded by the company prior to the invitation to subscribe, and that such persons shall receive the offer by name, and that a complete record of such offers shall be kept by the company in such manner as may be prescribed and complete information about such offer shall be filed with the Registrar within a period of thirty days of circulation of relevant private placement offer letter.
 - (ix) No company offering securities under section 42 of the Act shall release any public advertisements or utilise any media, marketing or distribution channels or agents to inform the public at large about such an offer.
 - (x) The company making any allotment of securities under section 42 of the Act shall file with the Registrar a return of allotment in such manner as may be prescribed, including the complete list of all security-holders, with their full names, addresses, number of securities allotted and such other relevant information as may be prescribed.
 - (xi) If a company makes an offer or accepts monies in contravention of section 42 of the Act and an order imposing the penalty for such contravention is passed, then the company shall also refund all monies to subscribers within a period of thirty days of the order imposing the penalty.
- (d) In case the requirements of section 42 of the Act and rules framed in this regard are not complied with, the auditor should report incorporating following details:

Nature of securities viz. Equity share / Preference shares / Convertible debenture	Amount Involved	Nature of non-compliance

- (e) This clause also requires the auditor to examine whether funds so raised from private placement of shares or fully or partly convertible debentures were applied for the purpose for which these securities were issued. The examination of auditor may cover following aspects:
- (i) Paragraph 2(i) of the Form PAS-4, Private Placement Offer Letter¹¹, requires the company to provide particulars in respect of the purposes and objects of the offer. Accordingly, the auditor should compare such information provided by the Company in Form PAS-4 with the actual utilization of the monies as per the books of account of the Company.
 - (ii) It is not necessary to establish a one-to-one relationship with the amount of fund raised and its utilisation. It is quite often found that the amount of fund raised is not deposited in a separate bank account of the company from which subsequent utilisation is made. In such cases, it should not be construed that the amount has not been utilised for the purpose for which it was raised.

- (iii) During construction phase, companies, may, temporarily invest the surplus funds prudently. However, subsequently the same are utilised for the stated objectives. In such cases, the auditor should mention the fact that pending utilisation of the fund raised for the stated purpose, the funds were temporarily used for the purpose other than for which the funds was raised.
 - (iv) However if the funds were ultimately utilised for the stated end-use, the reporting for the same may be made as and when the same have been utilized.
 - (v) It may so happen that the funds raised during the year might not have been applied for the stated purpose during the year, for example, the funds were raised at the fag-end of the year. In such a case, the auditor should mention in his audit report that the funds raised during the year has not been utilised. This also implies that the auditor, while making inquiry in respect of this clause, should also consider that the funds raised, which were raised in the previous accounting period but have been actually utilised during the current accounting period.
 - (vi) In case the specific purpose in not recorded and the general purpose / bona-fide business use etc are stated then in such cases, auditor should verify that the company has invested or utilized the money for general purpose / bona-fide business use of the company.
- (f) The auditor may report the non-compliances incorporating the following details:

Nature of Securities viz. Equity share /Preference shares /Convertible debenture	Purpose for which funds raised	Total Amount Raised /opening unutilized balance	Amount utilized for the other purpose	Un-utilized balance as at Balance sheet date	Remarks, if any

51. Whether the company has entered into any non-cash transactions with directors or persons connected with him and if so, whether the provisions of section 192 of Companies Act, 2013 have been complied with. [Paragraph 3(xv)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) Section 192 of the Act deals with restriction on non-cash transactions involving directors or persons connected with them. The section prohibits the company from entering into following types of arrangements unless it meets the conditions laid out in the said section:
 - (i) An arrangement by which a director of the company or its holding, subsidiary or associate company or a person connected with such director acquires or is to acquire assets for consideration other than cash, from the company.

- (ii) An arrangement by which the company acquires or is to acquire assets for consideration other than cash, from such director or person so connected.
- (b) Arrangements, as discussed herein above, can only be entered by the company on fulfillment of the conditions laid out in Section 192 of the Act which are as under:
- (i) The company should have obtained prior approval for such arrangement through a resolution of the company in general meeting.
 - (ii) In case the concerned director or the person connected therewith, is also a director of its holding company, a similar approval should have been obtained by the holding company through a resolution at its general meeting.
- (c) The reporting requirements under this clause are in two parts. The first part requires the auditor to report on whether the company has entered into any non-cash transactions with the directors or any persons connected with such director/s. The second part of the clause requires the auditor to report whether the provisions of section 192 of the Act have been complied with. Therefore, the second part of the clause becomes reportable only if the answer to the first part is in affirmative.
- (d) In other words, such transactions involving change in the assets or liabilities of a company but not involving “cash” or cash equivalents” as defined under Accounting Standard (AS) 3, “Cash Flow Statement” may be construed as non-cash transactions. At this point, it may be appropriate to also refer to the definition and discussion on “non-cash transactions” & “cash and cash equivalents”, as given in AS 3.
- (e) There may be a situation where the acquisition of the asset takes place in one year and the corresponding liability is created in the financial statements, the corresponding settlement in the following year. The said transaction will not be considered as non-cash transaction. Further, mergers under Court schemes would be entered into subject to requisite approvals of Court etc., would not be considered non-cash transactions.
- (f) The term “person connected with the director” has not been defined in the Act, or the Rules thereunder. Instead, the term “to any other person in whom the director is interested” is defined in the Explanation to sub section (1) of section 185 of the Act, which is reproduced as under and may be used as the reference point for reporting under this clause.
- “(a) any director of the lending company, or of a company which is its holding company or any partner or relative of any such director;
 - (b) any firm in which any such director or relative is a partner;
 - (c) any private company of which any such director is a director or member;

- (d) anybody corporate at a general meeting of which not less than twenty-five per cent. of the total voting power may be exercised or controlled by any such director, or by two or more such directors, together; or
 - (e) anybody corporate, the Board of directors, managing director or manager, whereof is accustomed to act in accordance with the directions or instructions of the Board, or of any director or directors, of the lending company.”
- (g) Section 2(77) of the Companies Act, 2013 read with Rule 4 of the Companies (Specification of Definition Details) Rules, 2014 defines the term “relative”. As per the aforesaid section 2(77), “Relative, with reference to any person, means anyone who is related to another, if –

- (i) they are members of a Hindu Undivided Family;*
- (ii) they are husband and wife; or*
- (iii) one person is related to the other in such manner as may be prescribed”*

As per Rule 4 of the Companies (Specification of Definition Details) Rules, 2014, a person shall be deemed to be the relative of another, if he or she is related to another in the following manner, namely –

- (i) Father, including step father
 - (ii) Mother, including step mother
 - (iii) Son, including step son
 - (iv) Son’s wife
 - (v) Daughter
 - (vi) Daughter’s husband
 - (vii) Brother, including step brother
 - (viii) Sister, including step sister
- (h) The term “acquire” simply means to come into possession of something. A thing that cannot be sold cannot be acquired¹². Thus, an acquisition would necessarily involve existence of two parties and a transfer of rights and/or obligations in a thing. In the context of section 192 of the Act, this transfer is between the company and the director and/or a person connected with a director. Such “director” is not restricted to being a director of the concerned company, but extends to director of a holding company, subsidiary or associate of the company under question.
- (i) As provided in section 192, the acquisition by/from the company has to be that of an “asset”. Further, the term assets should be construed to have the same meaning as described in the Framework for Preparation and Presentation of Financial Statements, issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. The auditor would need to evaluate whether the subject matter of acquisition by/ from the company satisfies the characteristic of an “asset”.

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (j) For reporting on the first leg of the reporting clause, the starting point of the auditor’s procedures could be obtaining a management representation as to whether the company has undertaken any non-cash transactions with the directors or persons connected with the directors, as envisaged in section 192(1) of the Act. The auditor would need to corroborate the management representation with sufficient appropriate audit evidence. A scrutiny of the following books of account, records and documents could provide source of such audit evidence to the auditor as to the existence of such non cash transactions as well as persons connected with the Directors:

Persons connected with Director	Acquisition by/ From Company
Form No. MBP 1, Notice of Interest by Director , filed pursuant to the Companies (Meetings of Board and Its Powers) Rules, 2014 [Ref: Sec 184(1) and Rule 9(1)]	Form No. MBP 2, Register of Loans, Guarantee, Security and Acquisition Made by the Company , filed pursuant to the Companies (Meetings of Board and Its Powers) Rules, 2014 [Ref: Sec 186(9) and Rule 12(1)]
	Form No. MBP 4, Register of Contracts with Related Party and Contracts and Bodies etc in which Directors are Interested , filed pursuant to the Companies (Meetings of Board and Its Powers) Rules, 2014 [Ref: Sec 189(1) and Rule 16(1)]
	Movements in the Fixed Asset Register
	Minutes book of the General Meeting and Meetings of Directors
	Report on Annual General Meeting pursuant to Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014 {Ref Sec 121(1) and Rule 31(2)}

- (k) The above documents and records would provide evidence of any such non cash transactions that have actually taken place. The language of section 192(1) also uses the term “is to acquire” in the context of such transactions, indicating the existence of intention to acquire. The management may be requested to provide details of its intention to enter into transactions covered under section 192, after the date of the financial statements under audit. The minutes of the meetings of the Board of Directors and the Audit Committee may provide evidence of such intention. Besides, a scrutiny of the information for subsequent period as contained in the aforesaid records and documents may provide corroborative audit evidence of such intention having existed as at the date of the auditor's report.

- (l) Where the company has entered into/ is to enter into any non-cash transactions as discussed above, the auditor would make a report to that effect under this clause. The second leg of the clause requires the auditor to report whether the Company has complied with the provisions of section 192 in this regard. Section 192(1) and (2) envisage the following compliances in respect of such transactions:
 - (i) The company should have obtained a prior approval for such arrangement by a resolution in the General Meeting
 - (ii) If the concerned Director or connected person is a director of the company's holding company, the latter too should have obtained a similar prior approval for the arrangement by a resolution at its General Meeting
 - (iii) Notice for approval of the resolution should contain details of the arrangement along with the value of assets involved duly calculated by a registered valuer.

The auditors should check compliance with Section 192(2) and verify the notice of the General Meeting that it includes particulars of arrangement along with the value of the assets involved such arrangements. The said value should be calculated by the register valuer.

- (m) In case where the concerned director/connected person is also a director of the holding company, the auditor would need to check whether the holding company has complied with the requirements. For this purpose, the auditor would need to obtain a management representation letter from the holding company through the management of the auditee company.

Suggested paragraph on reporting:

According to the information and explanations given to us, the Company has entered into non-cash transactions with one of the directors/ person connected with the director during the year, by the acquisition of assets by assuming directly related liabilities, which in our opinion is covered under the provisions of Section 192 of the Act, and for which approval has not yet been obtained in a general meeting of the Company.

52. Whether the company is required to be registered under section 45-IA of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 and if so, whether the registration has been obtained. [Paragraph 3(xvi)]

Relevant Provisions

- (a) The auditor is required to examine whether the company is engaged in the business which attract the requirements of the registration. The registration is required where the financing activity is a principal business of the company.
- (b) The Reserve Bank of India restrict companies from carrying on the business of a non-banking financial institution without obtaining the certificate of registration. The relevant Text of the Section 45-IA is reproduced in Appendix XI to this Guidance Note.
- (c) A Non-Banking Financial Company (NBFC) is a company registered under the Act, engaged in the business of loans and advances, acquisition of shares/stocks/bonds/debentures/securities issued by Government or local authority or other marketable securities of a like nature, leasing, hire-purchase, insurance business, chit business but does not include any institution whose principal business is that of agriculture activity, industrial activity, purchase or sale of any goods (other than securities) or providing any services and sale/purchase/construction of immovable property.

A non-banking institution which is a company and has principal business of receiving deposits under any scheme or arrangement in one lump sum or in installments by way of contributions or in any other manner, is also a non-banking financial company (Residuary non-banking company).

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (d) What does conducting financial activity as “principal business” mean? The response to an FAQ as given by Reserve Bank of India required to be considered while examining the requirement of registration:-.

“Financial activity as principal business is when a company’s financial assets constitute more than 50 per cent of the total assets and income from financial assets constitute more than 50 per cent of the gross income. A company which fulfils both these criteria will be registered as NBFC by RBI. The term 'principal business' is not defined by the Reserve Bank of India Act. The Reserve Bank has defined it so as to ensure that only companies predominantly engaged in financial activity get registered with it and are regulated and supervised by it. Hence if there are companies engaged in agricultural operations, industrial activity, purchase and sale of goods, providing services or purchase, sale or construction of immovable property as their principal business and are doing some financial business in a small way, they will not be regulated by the Reserve Bank. Interestingly, this test is popularly known as 50-50 test and is applied to determine whether or not a company is into financial business. - (e) NBFCs are doing functions similar to banks, however there exist difference between banks & NBFCs. NBFCs lend and make investments and hence their activities are akin to that of banks; however there are a few differences as given below:

- (i) NBFC cannot accept demand deposits;
- (ii) NBFCs do not form part of the payment and settlement system and cannot issue cheques drawn on itself;
- (iii) deposit insurance facility of Deposit Insurance and Credit Guarantee Corporation is not available to depositors of NBFCs, unlike in case of banks.

- (g) Further Section 45-I Clause (f) of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 defines the Non-Banking Financial Company reproduced in Appendix III to this Guidance Note.
- (h) The Reserve Bank of India defined “net owned fund” as (a) the aggregate of the paid-up equity capital and free reserves as disclosed in the latest balance-sheet of the company after deducting there from (i) accumulated balance of loss; (ii) deferred revenue expenditure; and (iii) other intangible assets; and (b) further reduced by the amounts representing– (1) investments of such company in shares of– (i) its subsidiaries; (ii) companies in the same group; (iii) all other non-banking financial companies; and (2) the book value of debentures, bonds, outstanding loans and advances (including hire-purchase and lease finance) made to, and deposits with,– (i) subsidiaries of such company; and (ii) companies in the same group, to the extent such amount exceeds ten per cent of (a) above. (“Subsidiaries” and “companies in the same group” shall have the same meanings assigned to them in the Companies Act, 1956.)

Audit Procedures and Reporting

- (i) The auditor should examine the transactions of the company with relation to the activities covered under the RBI Act and directions related to the Non Banking Finance companies
- (j) The financial statements should be examined to ascertain whether company’s financial assets constitute more than 50 per cent of the total assets and income from financial assets constitute more than 50 per cent of the gross income.
- (k) Whether the company has net owned funds as required for the registration as NBFC
- (l) Whether the company has obtained the registration as NBFC, if not, the reasons should be sought from the management and documented.
- (m) The auditor should report incorporating the following:-

- (i) Whether the registration is required under section 45-IA of the RBI Act
- (ii) If so , whether it has obtained
- (iii) If not obtained , reasons thereof

Comments on Form of Report

53. The Order requires that the auditor should make a statement on all such matters contained therein as are applicable to the company. The Order further provides that where an auditor is unable to express any opinion, he should indicate such fact. The auditor is also required to give reasons for any unfavourable or qualified answer. Further, where the auditor is unable to express an opinion on any such matter which is applicable to the company, he is also required to indicate in his report such fact together with the reasons as to why he is unable to express any opinion.

54. A question may also arise whether it is necessary for the auditor to include in his report the management's explanation for any matter on which he makes an unfavourable comment. Normally, such an explanation need not be included but there may be circumstances where the auditor feels such inclusion is necessary. Examples of such circumstances would be:

- (a) to make the comment itself more meaningful and complete. For example, physical verification of inventories, though planned, may not have been carried out because of a strike or a lockout. An unfavourable comment without this explanation would be misleading;
- (b) to explain the fact why in spite of an unfavourable comment, the true and fair view of the financial statements is not vitiated. For example, physical verification of a part of the inventories at the year-end may not have been carried out, but there is sufficient other evidence produced by the management which satisfies the auditor regarding the existence, condition and value of the inventories.

55. If any of the comments on matters specified in the Order are adverse, the auditor should consider whether his comments have a bearing on the true and fair view presented by the financial statements and, therefore, might warrant a modification in the report under sub-sections (2), (3) and (4) of section 143

56. If the auditor is of the opinion that any of the unfavourable comments on matters specified in the Order results in a qualification under sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 143 the manner of reporting would have to be in accordance with the principles enunciated in SA 705, "Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor's Report".

57. Even where there are no unfavourable comments under the Order, it may be advisable for the auditor to preface his report under sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 143 with the words:

"Further to our comments in the Annexure, we state that....."

58. It should not, however, be assumed that every unfavourable comment under the Order would necessarily result in a qualification in the report under sub-sections

(2) and (3) of section 143. Firstly, the unfavourable comment may be regarding a matter which has no relevance to a true and fair view presented by the financial statements, for example, the failure of the company to deposit provident fund dues in time or to comply with the requirements regarding acceptance of deposits. Secondly, while the non-compliance may be material enough to warrant an unfavourable comment under the Order, it may not be material enough to affect the true and fair view presented by the financial statements. Finally, the non-compliance may be in an area which calls for remedial action on the part of the management, and may be important for that reason but may not be sufficiently important in the context of the report under sub-sections (2) and (3). In deciding, therefore, whether a qualification in the report under sub-sections (2) & (3) is necessary, the auditor should use his professional judgement in the facts and circumstances of each case.

59. Where there is a unfavourable both under sub-section (1) of section 143 of the Act and under the Order, it is suggested that the qualification under sub-section (1) precede the qualification under the Order.

60. It is important to note that replies to many of the requirements of the Order will involve expression of opinion and not necessarily statement of facts. It is necessary, therefore, that this is indicated when making the report under the Order. This can be done in either of the following ways:

(a) By a general preface to the comments under the Order on the following lines:

“In terms of the information and explanations sought by us and given by the company and the books and records examined by us in the normal course of audit and to the best of our knowledge and belief, we state that.....”

or

(b) by a preface to individual comments, for example,

“In our opinion” or “In our opinion and according to the information and explanations given to us during the course of the audit...”

61. The Order requires that where the answer to a question is unfavourable or qualified, the auditor’s report should also state the reasons for such unfavourable or qualified answer. While it is not necessary for the auditor to give very detailed reasons for an unfavourable or qualified answer, he is expected to explain the general nature of the qualification or adverse comment in clear and unambiguous terms.

62. Similar considerations would apply when the auditor is unable to express an opinion. In such circumstances, he should clearly state that he is unable to express an opinion because such records or evidence have not been produced before him.

63. In expressing an opinion, the auditor should be quite clear as to whether the circumstances of the case warrant a negative answer or whether his opinion can be expressed subject to a qualification.

64. The auditor’s report under sub-section (3) of section 143 is required to state whether the auditor has sought and obtained all the information and explanations which to the best of his knowledge and belief, were necessary for the purposes of his audit and if not, the details thereof and the effect of such information on the financial statements . The term “audit” would include the reporting requirements under the Order. Therefore, when making his report, the auditor has to consider whether he has sought and obtained the information and explanations needed not merely for the purposes of normal audit, but also for the purpose of reporting in terms of the Order. If he has sought but not received the information and explanations necessary for reporting in terms of the Order, he should mention that fact both when reporting on the specific question in the Order and also consider the impact of such non receipt of the information on the auditor’s report under section 143(3)(a) of the Act.

Board’s Report

65. Section 134(3)(f) of the Act requires that the board of directors shall be bound to give in its report the fullest information and explanations regarding every reservation, qualification or adverse remark or disclaimer contained in the auditor’s report. The auditor’s comments in terms of the Order form part of his report and, therefore, the Board will be bound to give in its report the fullest information and explanations regarding every unfavourable comment or qualification therein.

66. The auditor’s comments in terms of the Order may be in respect of matters of fact or they may be an expression of opinion. It is necessary that there should be no inconsistency in the facts as stated by the auditor and as explained in the board’s report. It is, therefore, suggested that wherever possible, a draft report should be submitted to the Board to verify and confirm the facts stated therein.

67. It is, however, possible that, on the same facts, there may be a genuine difference of opinion between the auditor and the Board. In such a case, each is entitled to hold his or its view. Therefore, the expression of a different opinion in the Board’s report should not be regarded as any reflection on the opinion expressed by the auditor.
